About University College

The newest of UMass Boston's eight colleges and schools, University College was established in 2010 to continue and expand the mission of UMass Boston's Division of Corporate, Continuing and Distance Education (CCDE). University College brings the excellence and value of a UMass Boston education to a wider audience, making the resources of Boston's public research university available to meet the needs of the greater Boston community, the Massachusetts workforce, and the global economy. Through off-campus, weekend, summer and winter courses, online learning, degree and certificate programs, international programs, and corporate and professional training programs, we extend UMass Boston's reach and expand its contribution.

Here's a quick look at what UC has to offer:

Off-campus and weekend courses. During the fall and spring academic semesters, we offer undergraduate and graduate courses weekday evenings at off-campus sites in Boston's Copley Square, Braintree, Plymouth, and elsewhere, as well as on-campus courses on Friday evenings and Saturdays. The scheduling flexibility these courses offer appeals both to working adults and to matriculated UMass Boston students.

Online learning. UMass Boston has been offering online courses for almost a decade, and the breadth and quality of our online programming are increasingly recognized within the higher education community, as evidenced by the awards our programs have won and continue to win. Last year we offered more than 300 online courses, as well as online bachelor's and master's degrees, certificates, and professional training programs. We are proud to be part of UMass Online, the system-wide consortium that supports and promotes innovative online programming at all five University of Massachusetts campuses. See page 40.

Degrees and certificate programs. UC currently offers one doctoral degree, eleven master's degrees, two bachelor's degrees, and a wide variety of graduate and undergraduate certificates, developed and delivered in partnership with the University's other colleges and academic departments. All of the degrees and many of the certificates are available entirely online (some degrees are also available in face-to-face format, or as a combination of online and classroom study). These programs are geared to help meet the career goals of professionals in fields such as health care, human services, education, and information technology. See pages 41-46.

Summer and winter programs. UC administers UMass Boston's summer program, which has grown over nearly 40 years into one of the largest university summer sessions in New England. Each year we offer over 600 courses in sessions starting in May and July. Our summer courses, institutes, and study-abroad programs are popular not only with UMass Boston students but with students from other colleges and universities as well as adult professionals such as educators, counselors and nurses. UC also administers the University's winter session program, offering courses that meet for several hours a day over an intensive three-week January session, as well as study-abroad programs in destinations such as Mexico, Jamaica and India.

International and English Language programs. UMass Boston is an increasingly international university, and UC is one of the major reasons why. We offer study-abroad programs in both summer and winter sessions, sending students to Latin America, Europe, Africa and Asia to study everything from management to archaeology. In addition, our online courses and programs serve a global audience, and our China Program Center advances scholarly and business collaborations between China and America through innovative programs for both American and Chinese audiences. Our successful English as a Second Language programs have brought students from all over the world to study English at UMass Boston; many of these students go on to matriculate at the university, enriching the diversity of the campus experience. See page 53.

Corporate and professional training. UC plays a key role in fulfilling UMass Boston's workforce development mission through training contracts with corporations and government agencies, as well as through non-credit courses, seminars and certificate programs offering training in high-demand knowledge areas such as project management, information design, human resource management and substance abuse counseling. See pages 47-52.

Accounting and Finance

Personal Finance AF 201

Introduces students to planning and managing personal and family finances. Topics include insurance and estate planning, relationships with banks, issues in home ownership and real estate, the fundamentals of investing in stocks and bonds, tax planning, leasing as compared with buying automobiles, and financing college education. This course cannot be counted toward the finance or accounting concentration in the College of Management.

3 Credits

Financial Accounting AF 210

Presents the theory and techniques of financial accounting. The course encompasses the basic functions of collecting, processing, and reporting accounting information for interested third parties (e.g. owners, investors, and government) and enables students to analyze, interpret, and use accounting information effectively.

3 credits

Prerequisite: a minimum of 30 credits. MGT students only.

Managerial Accounting AF 211

Presents the theory and technique of managerial accounting, from the particular perspective of the manager. The course covers the identification and analysis of the behavior of costs within the organization, and illustrates how managers use such knowledge for planning and control. Major topics include responsibility accounting, comprehensive and cash budgeting, standard job order and process cost systems, cost-volume-profit analysis, cost allocation, activity-based costing, standard costs, and variance analysis.

3 credits

Prerequisite: AF 210 and a minimum of 30 credits MGT students only.

Africana Studies

Introduction to Africana Studies — AFRSTY 101

This course presents an overview of the major theories in the field of Africana studies. It seeks to explore the Africana experience in a way that is orderly, systematic, and structurally integrated; and to convey an understanding of the cultural, historical, and political roots of this experience. The course focuses chronologically on major historical episodes through a study of ancient African civilizations, slavery, colonialism, and African liberation movements.

3 credits Dist WC Div I

African Images in Literature — AFRSTY 150

This course examines the different ways in which African writers have represented the continent of Africa by focusing on their struggle to develop authentic forms and images. Through the reading of selected folk tales, novels, and poems from different African societies, participants consider such issues as the influence of colonialism on creative writing; the politics of African culture; race and class; the images and status of women.

3 credits Div I

Free and Slave in the New World, 1492-1888 — AFRSTY 220

A survey of African-American and Afro-Caribbean societies from the European settlement of the Americas to the abolition of slavery in Brazil. The geographical focus is on Canada, the United States, Mexico, Guyana, Brazil, Cuba, and the English-speaking Caribbean—primarily Trinidad, Jamaica, and Barbados. The course introduces students to the historical debate over the varieties of slave systems.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

The African-American Image on Stage, Screen and Television — AFRSTY 270

The evolution and development of African-American characters and caricatures as they have been represented in theatrical, screen, and television presentations.

3 credits

Modern Caribbean Studies — AFRSTY 310

This course undertakes a descriptive and interpretive analysis of the growth of the modern English-speaking Caribbean society. Although the focus is specifically on the period 1918-1962, the class looks at that period in the historical context of colonialism and slavery in the new world (the Americas), and of the social and political attitudes shaped and derived from that period. Special attention is therefore given to the salient racial, social, political, economic, and religious issues that have significantly influenced and contributed to the complex social relations of present-day Caribbean society.

3 credits Div I

Introduction to Haitian Creole Studies — AFRSTY 480

This course provides broad foundations of spoken, listening and written Kreyòl, contextualized within a survey of Haitian culture. The language component of the course will be taught in a Kreyòl immersion format. Lectures and discussions on Haitian cultural and social history will be in a bilingual format (English and Kreyòl), and will focus on various relevant topics from post-Columbian era in Hispaniola, the Atlantic slave trade, the Haitian Revolution, Haitian belief system (vodou) and arts, to the 20th century tourism, the 1915-1934 U.S. occupation, Haitians in the DR, the rise and fall of Duvalierism, and post-Duvalier democratic experience to the present. The course will provide linguistic and cultural background with a particular view to preparing undergraduate and graduate students for service, educational, or research travel in Haiti. Different intellectual facets are explored as a vehicle to increase language competence.

3 credits

American Studies

Popular Culture in America — AMST 101

This course introduces students to the varieties of popular culture in America, including popular literature, live entertainment, radio, movies, and television. In-depth case studies of such particular forms of popular culture as humor and music are included. In class viewing and listening accompany case studies.

3 credits Dist HU

The Fifties — AMST 205

This course covers the period from the end of World War II in 1945 to President John F Kennedy's inauguration in 1961, focusing on the social, political, economic, and cultural trends of the era. Topics include the Cold War, the atomic age, McCarthyism, the early civil rights movements, the Fifties family, rock 'n' roll, the Golden Age of television, automobile culture and the growth of the suburbs, and the Beat movement.

3 credits Dist HU

Prerequisite: ENGL 102.

The Sixties — AMST 206

The course focuses on protest and the role of youth. Who protested and why? Was the phenomenon of the sixties an aberration or part of a larger radical tradition in America? What was the impact on the seventies? Readings are drawn from the works of participants in the student, black, feminist and peace protest movements, from the intellectuals who defended and attacked them, and from the growing body of retrospective, analytic, and historical literature which attempts to explain what really happened in that tumultuous decade.

3 credits Dist HU Div U

Prerequisite: ENGL 102.

American Dreams/American Realities: Men and Women in Society and Culture, 1600-1860 AMST 210

Documents, diaries, letters, essays, fiction, and art, along with secondary historical and anthropological sources, are used to compare the dreams and realities of men's and women's lives in Amdrica from the first contact between European explorers and Native Americans up through the Age of Reform (1830-60). Topics include visions of landscape and nature; contrasting cultures of Indians and Anglo-Americans; family and "women's place") slavery; working class organization; and women's rights.

3 credits Dist HU Div U

Prerequisite: ENGL 102.

Anthropology

Introduction to Biological Anthropology ANTH 105

The study of human biological evolution and human population variation. This course introduces the history, theory, and methods of research in biological anthropology through lectures and hands-on exercises. Major topics include: geological time, classification, and the place of humans in the animal world; evidence for primate and human evolution; evolutionary theory and genetics; and discussion of the evolutionary forces involved in producing human population variation. This course addresses, in assignments and during class time, the following general education capabilities: critical thinking; using technology to further learning; quantitative reasoning; collaborative work; and effective communication. Students who have taken ANTH 102 may not receive credit for ANTH 105.

3 credits Dist NS

Introduction to Cultural Anthropology ANTH 106

An introduction to the anthropological study of cultures, based on ethnographic descriptions and analyses of tribal, developing, and modern state societies. 3 credits Dist NS

General Biology II — BIOL 112

An integrated course stressing the principles of biology. Life processes are examined primarily at the organismal and population levels. Intended for students majoring in biology or for non-majors who wish to take advanced biology courses.

4 credits Dist NS

Prerequisite: BIOL 111.

Classics

The Etruscans — CLSICS 280

Long before Rome became an important city, most of the Italian peninsula was under the control of the Etruscans. Lydian migrants who intermingled with the indigenous iron age cultures, they grew to became political rivals and trading partners of the Classical Greeks and the Phoenicians. Their painted tombs preserve vivid scenes and artefacts of their daily life. In the decoration of their temples or in the portrait sarcophagi of spouses, the Etruscans excelled in life-size painted terracotta sculpture as well as metalwork in bronze and gold. Women had a higher degree of social equality in their confederacy of towns, than in Greece or Rome, and many of their religious and political practices were adopted by the Romans.

3 credits Dist SB

Greek and Roman Tragedy — CLSICS 375

A survey of the tragic drama of fifth-century Athens, including the works of Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides. This course also addresses questions of social and political context, literary genre, conventions of production, and the influence of Greek tragedy on Rome (especially Seneca).

3 credits Dist AR

Prerequisite: Any Classics course or permission of instructor.

Communication Studies

Introduction to Communication COMSTU 100

This course is designed to provide an introductory survey of the study of communication. The course begins with a general history of the evolution of human communication, and goes on to examine such areas as definitions, models, and basic concepts in communication; the range of verbal and non-verbal codes, and their complex interrelations in the message systems of modern electronic media; and various communication contexts, with emphasis on the structure and function of interpersonal communication and mass communication, particularly broadcast and cable television.

3 credits Dist SB

Oral Communication COMSTU 105

This course focuses on improvement of interpersonal, small group, and public communication skills. Through readings, journals, class discussions and activities, we explore the following: self-concept and perception, listening and responding, language and non-verbal behaviors, interviewing, problem-solving and decision-making, formal elements of speech-making, the evaluation of one's own and others' public messages.

3 credits

Using Internet Communication COMSTU 210

Using Internet communications enhances students' theoretical understanding of electronic communication and their ability to communicate as professionals, scholars, and citizens using the Internet. Participants learn core communication theoretical models and principles, and apply them to electronic communication methodologies that enhance interpersonal, small group, and public interactions. These methodologies include electronic meetings, discussion forums, co-authoring tools, audio, and video.

3 credits

Analyzing Media COMSTU 250

Participants intensively examine mass media products, including print media, radio, television, and the visual and musical arts. They develop skills in deconstructing media products and evaluating them to arrive at a sophisticated understanding of how the various mass media are produced and how they interact with society and culture. The course makes use of both theoretical texts and the media products themselves.

3 credits Dist SB

Prerequisite: ENGL 102.

Information Technology and Human Communication COMSTU 300

This course examines the relationship between information technology and human communication. Readings, discussion, assignments and projects address IT's potential to enhance and constrain communication; its role in the promotion or dissolution of community; its implications for social policy; its place among other media; and many more issues for which IT, particularly cyber-technology, is a lightning rod.

3 credits Dist SB

Criminal Justice

Criminology CRMJUS 262L

A general survey and analysis of adult crime. Attention to historical development of criminological thought, societal reaction to crime, and behavioral systems. Emphasis on theories of criminality and issues in the administration of justice by police and courts.

3 credits Dist SB

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101.

Racial and Ethnic Relations CRMJUS 321L

An examination of racial and ethnic relations in contemporary society, including the history and sociology of the immigration experience, bilingual education, the nature and character of discrimination, neighborhood change, and racial and ethnic conflict.

3 credits

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101 and CRMJUS/SOCIOL 262L.

The Sociology of Law CRMJUS 467L

A general analysis of the social origins and consequences of law and legal process; special emphasis on law as a method of conflict resolution and as a social control structure, and on law and social change. Attention also given to law in other societies, including non-literate societies, to the evolution and development of legal structures, and to patterns of due process and criminal law.

3 credits

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101 and CRMJUS/SOCIOL 262L.

Critical Reading and Writing

Elements of Writing Proficiency — CRW 282

A course for upper-level students who need further work on those critical reading, writing, and thinking abilities necessary to complete the writing proficiency requirement. Intensive instruction and practice in analyzing and synthesizing readings and in developing and documenting essays based on multiple readings. Students must complete 1-2 papers appropriate for submission in a writing proficiency portfolio. A conference with the director of the writing proficiency requirement is recommended before registering. Course enrollment is limited to 22 students.

3 credits

Proficiency in Analytic Writing — CRW 283

This course is for students who have had repeated difficulty completing the writing proficiency requirement. The course explores a broad theme or topic, reading texts drawn from different disciplines. The course functions as an intensive writing workshop, providing instruction and practice in critical reading, writing, and thinking. Students must develop three critical papers, based on multiple readings, that form the basis of a writing proficiency portfolio. A conference with the director of the writing proficiency requirement is mandatory before registering. Course enrollment is limited to 15 students.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of department.

Economics

Introduction to Microeconomics — ECON 101

A broad introductory survey in which special attention is given to the role of economic principles in analyzing and understanding current economic problems. Emphasis is given to the functioning of markets and to the behavior of individual economic units such as the business firm and the consumer (microeconomics). Other areas of emphasis vary from section to section and may include industrial organization, income distribution, international trade, economics of the environment, and other topics.

3 credits Dist SB

Prerequisite: MATH 114Q or 115 or equivalent MATH level.

Introduction to Macroeconomics — ECON 102

A broad introductory survey in which special attention is given to the role of economic principles in analyzing and understanding current economic problems. Emphasis is given to examining the overall functioning of the economy and to such matters as unemployment, inflation and recession. Other areas of emphasis vary from section to section and may include economics of government spending and taxation, economic development, alternative economic systems, and other topics.

3 credits Dist SB

Prerequisite: MATH 114Q or 115 or equivalent MATH level.

English

Note: ENGL 101 and 102 are prerequisites for all English courses above the 100 level. For non-majors, one 200-level English course is prerequisite for all 300- and 400-level English courses. These requirements may be modified or waived for certain courses: see the following course descriptions for such changes. The student who is strongly motivated to take a course for which he or she has not satisfied the prerequisites should contact the instructor for advice and permission.

Students whose first language is not English and who have not previously completed a UMass Boston English or ESL credit course must take a writing placement test before registering for any English or ESL course. For further information, see page 63 ("Diagnostic Testing").

Freshman English I — ENGL 101

English 101 is an introductory course in critical reading and writing that prepares students for working with the complex texts and ideas they will find in their college studies. English 101 teaches students to discover and shape their own perspectives in dialogue with challenging readings. Through carefully sequenced assignments, students are guided through various processes for constructing academic essays that may include journal writing, glossing texts, discussing student papers in class, peer reviewing, and especially revising. Readings and materials vary from section to section.

3 credits

Note: English 101 satisfies the first half of the College's freshman writing requirements.

Prerequisite: Degree students only.

Freshman English II — ENGL 102

If English is not your first language, you may be placed into 102E, a course devoted to ESL students. This course, designed for non-native speakers of English, parallels 102 and meets the same graduation requirement. The following description therefore applies as well to 102E. Freshman English 102 is a more advanced course in critical reading and writing than 101; it is intended to help students prepare for their upper-level courses and the Writing Proficiency Requirement. Through sequenced assignments, students learn to sustain inquiries on particular themes or issues and to treat subjects from different perspectives, including their own. Through frequent reading and writing assignments, students learn to analyze the structures of essays and arguments so they are able to develop informed responses to them. As in 101, drafting and redrafting are emphasized. One of the course papers will be a researched essay that builds on course themes and issues.

3 credits

Note: English 102 and 102E both satisfy the second half of the College's freshman writing requirement.

For more detail, see: www.freshman.umb.edu.

Prerequisite: ENGL 101; Degree students only.

Five British Authors ENGL 201

Representative works by five of the most important writers from the fourteenth to the nineteenth century, studied as introductions to philosophical and humanistic studies, explored as reflecting and shaping the leading ideas, assumptions, and values of their ages. Works by Chaucer, Shakespeare, and other authors such as Milton, Swift, and Austen, with films and background lectures on the philosophical and historical contexts of the works and their authors. Instruction in analytical reading and writing is provided.

3 credits Dist HU

Prerequisite: ENGL 101 or 102.

Six American Authors ENGL 202

The achievements of American literature in articulating the American mind is illustrated by works from some well-known American writers-Thoreau, Dickinson, Faulkner, for example-as well as from those who deserve to be better known, such as William Wells Brown, Kate Chopin, Zora Neale Hurston.

3 credits Dist HU Div U

Prerequisite: ENGL 101.

Introduction to Creative Writing ENGL 210

An introduction to the arts through the medium of writing as well as reading poetry and fiction. Student writing is submitted weekly and discussed in class.

3 credits Dist AR

Prerequisite: ENGL 102.

Writing for the Print Media (A) ENGL 307

An advanced course where strong writers can gain proficiency in major types of writing for the public, including journalism (news and feature articles), promotional writing (press releases, flyers), and business and informational prose (brochures, reports, manuals and instructions). Assignments connect to real campus, job, and community events and situations, with the expectation that some writing will be publishable. In conjunction with ENGL 308, this course provides a strong preparation for editors and writers in all settings.

3 credits

Prerequisite: ENGL 200 or 201 or 206.

Environmental, Earth and Ocean Science

The Global Environment EEOS 101

An analysis of the physical geographic environment including the globe, the atmosphere and ocean, climate, soils, vegetation, and landform. Positive and negative interaction of human beings with these aspects of the environment is examined where appropriate.

3 credits Dist NS

World Regional Geography EEOS 102

An overview of world regions in terms of physical environment, human populations and the relationship between them. Topics with a focus on diversity are discussed from an international viewpoint and center on particular countries.

3 credits Div I

Weather and Climate EEOS 225

This course investigates atmospheric processes forming the basis for weather patterns and climatic development on a global scale. Major topics include earth-sun relationships, heating and cooling of the atmosphere, atmospheric circulation, pressure patterns, air mass formation and frontal systems, episodic storms, vertical zonation of climate, and the Koppen System for evaluating and classifying climatic phenomena.

3 credits Dist NS

Prerequisite: 30 credits.

Environmental Studies

The Nature of Environmental Problems ENVSTY 101

An introduction to environmental issues and analysis emphasizing comparisons between the sustainable characteristics of ecosystems, both natural and human, and the human impacts on the Earth's life support systems. Topics include human population growth, food production, use of natural resources, pollution, loss of bio-diversity, and conservation strategies.

3 credits Dist NS

Exercise and Health Science

Statistics for Health Professionals EHS 280

This course focuses on basic concepts of statistics such as measures of central tendency and variability; concepts of test validity, reliability, and objectivity; and on basic techniques used in inferential statistics. Emphasis will be placed on interpreting scientific peer-reviewed research in the field of exercise and health sciences.

3 credits

Prerequisite: MATH 114Q or appropriate score on the Math Placement assessment. By permission of department. EHS or College of Nursing students only .

French

Elementary French II — FRENCH 102

A continuation of FRENCH 101. Concentrated practice in the four language skills, with an audio-lingual approach, for students who have completed FRENCH 101 or its equivalent. Continued attention to French and francophone culture. Weekly laboratory attendance and assignments required.

4 credits Dist WL

Prerequisite: FRENCH 101 or equivalent.

Gerontology

CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Frank J. Manning Certificate in Gerontology

uc.umb.edu/certificates/manning/

For more information, see page 44.

Working with Elders — GERON 200

This course includes discussion, instruction, and practice in the skills necessary to perform the role of friendly visitor in a purposeful relationship with a frail elder in a field placement required by the Gerontology Program.. The student will develop an understanding of the current demographic factors that influence human aging in the 21st Century, identify and describe the principles and practice of a helping relationship, establish contact with an agency that will identify and arrange a meeting with an elder living independently in the community, describe the action plan and the implementation process to accomplish stated goals and objectives, and complete ten weekly visits (two hours each) with an assigned elder in the community. A Criminal Offense Record Inspection (CORI) check is required by the agency selected by the students. This course has been approved for CEU credit by the Massachusetts Board of Nursing Home Administrators.

3 credits

Please note: Non-Gerontology majors/certificate students need approval of the Gerontology program before taking this class (617.287.7330).

This course is taught in combination with GERON 300 and students must register for both classes.

Economic and Demographic Implications of Aging — GERON 220

This course seeks to provide students with the ability to obtain and utilize information about the demographic and economic status of the elderly in the United States and abroad and to examine the impact of these factors on their quality of life. Students will also learn about the aging network and the major health and social welfare programs including Medicare, Medicaid and Social Security and other services impacting older adults. This course involves lecture, class discussion of assignments, readings, case studies drawn from the field and two site visits to service organizations arranged to fit the student's schedule. This course has been approved for CEU credit by the Massachusetts Board of Nursing Home Administrators.

3 credits

Concepts of Aging — GERON 300

This course builds a framework for understanding the biological, psychological and social aspects of human aging and the older adult in the United States today. It explores a number of variables that are important to the study of human aging and fundamental to the planning and delivery of effective health and social services for older persons. Each student examines his/her own aging process regardless of his/her chronological age. This course has been approved for CEU credit by the Massachusetts Board of Nursing Home Administrators.

3 credits

This course is taught in combination with GERON 200 and students must register for both classes.

Health and Physical Aspects of Aging — GERON 500

Those who provide and manage services for the elderly, or who are involved in public policy and research concerning the elderly, require knowledge about the physical process of aging. This course will describe the physiological changes that accompany the aging process and relate these changes to the social, emotional and economic factors that influence the health status of older persons. Issues of prevention, health promotion and health maintenance will be discussed. Select disorders that affect health and independent living will be included.

Please note: GERON 500 is a requirement for the Gerontology major. It is optional for the Manning Certificate.

3 credits

History

Africa in the Twentieth Century — HIST 153

This course focuses on major themes in the history of Africa since 1900. These include the establishment of colonial rule and colonial administrative practices, colonial economies, African nationalism and decolonization, South Africa and the politics of apartheid, and post-colonial Africa from a global perspective.

3 credits Div I

Foundations of Western Civilization — HIST 211

A survey of European history from the golden age of Greece in the 5th century BCE to 1715, laying particular stress on politics, culture and religion. Major topics examined will include the culture of ancient Greece; the rise of Rome and the ideology of the Roman Empire; the early development of Christianity and its impact on the ancient world; the evolution of new political forms in the Middle Ages; medieval Christianity; the impact of Renaissance efforts to revive Greek and Roman civilization; the Protestant Reformation and Catholic responses to it; and the scientific and intellectual culture of the seventeenth century. In addition to broad coverage the course will devote attention to critical examination of a selection of key historical texts.

3 credits Dist HU

Modern Western Civilization HIST 212

This course traces the history of Western civilization from the enlightenment of the 18th century up to the transformations that took place in the 1990s. It is a history of revolutions and wars, ideologies and institutions. It is also a history of people, the lives they led and the decisions they made. In this period Western European nations, and a former colony, the United States, became the dominant powers in the world. During the last three centuries, Western civilization has influenced the lives of all people whether they lived in the west or in other parts of the world. By studying western civilization we therefore come to understand a great deal about our present day world and the lives we lead.

3 credits Dist HU

Modern World History HIST 214

This course offers an examination fo the processes of modernization and globalization sicne the late eighteenth century; their connections to imperialism, colonialism, and war; and their relationships to changing perceptions of society, politics, economics, gender, and culture in different regions of the world.

3 credits Dist SB Div I

Early Islamic History HIST 248

This course explores the history of Islamic civilization from its foundation in the seventh century to the establishment of the Ottoman Empire in the fourteenth century. After examining the consolidation of the Arabian peninsula under the Prophet Muhammad and the early Caliphs, we will turn our attention to the Umayyad and Abbasid states. The course will conclude with a discussion of the Mongol invasion of the Middle East/West Asia in 1258 and its aftermath. Topics to be covered include early Islamic political philosophy, the emergence and development of Islamic law, the posistion of minority groups within various early Islamic states, early Islamic approaches to gender and sexuality, and how this formative period of Islamic history is remembered both inside and outsice of the Middle East/West Asia today.

3 credits Div I

American History Before 1877 HIST 265

Beginning with the history of North America prior to the voyages of Columbus, History 265 examines the impact of Europeans upon indigenous peoples, and studies the evolution of colonial settlements in British North America. It covers the causes and consequences of the American Revolution, the subsequent development of democratic political and social institutions, the emergence of transportation, market and industrial revolutions and the coming of the sectional conflict and Civil War.

3 credits Dist HU

American History Since 1877 HIST 266

HIST 266 begins in the aftermath of the Civil War and Reconstruction and examines the naure and impact of urbanization, immigration, and industrialization. The course then examines the growth of American imperialism and the nations rise to world power status. It also focuses on cycles of economic change, including the Great Depression and the enormous expansion of the middle class after World War II. The course will also examine the Cold War in both its worldwide impact, such as wars in Korea and Vietnam, and on the domestic front. Finally, the course examines the transformation of society and culture in the second half of the Twentieth Century.

3 credits Dist HU

Europe 1900-1945 HIST 315

Political, social and intellectual history of Europe from 1900 to 1945. Emphasis on the origins of the World Wars, European totalitarianism, the Great Depression and inter-war societies.

3 credits

Advanced Topics in History: History of the Mediterranean HIST 318

The Mediterranean saw an extraordinary interaction between territories and peoples of the most diverse ethnic and religious backgrounds. The course analyzes how three continents were involved in a common path from the times of the Phoenicians to the Romans, the Italian Renaissance, the Ottoman Empire and the new scenarios of the 20th century and globalization.

3 credits

Russia and the Soviet Union: From the 1917 Revolution to Putin HIST 324

The peasant emancipation from serfdom in 1861 left the overwhelming majority of Russians destitute and disenfranchised. How did the subsequent revolutionary movement that promised social and economic equality transform into such a brutally oppressive system under Stalin? How did the Soviet Union become a world superpower and what were the reasons for its downfall? Through the use of primary documents, this course will attempt to answer these questions and emphasize social history: the ideals, aspirations, and actions of ordinary Soviet citizens.

3 credits

Women in Modern China HIST 359L

This course examines the social and cultural roles of Chinese women, and their changes over time. Emphasis is given to twentieth-century China, especially the People's Republic period.

3 credits Dist WC Div I

Modern Japan HIST 363L

A historical survey of economic, social, political and cultural developments in Japan from 1800 to the present, special consideration of economic and foreign policy problems.

3 credits Div I

The History of Modern Terrorism — HIST 389

This course studies the phenomenon of terrorism by considering twentieth-century political movements that have used or are using terror to achieve their objectives. The course develops an analytical framework for the study of terrorism and uses this framework in exploring the historical backgrounds, objectives, ideologies, tactics, and membership profiles of selected groups, and in considering the responses of their opponents. Groups to be studied include the IRA, the Irgun, the PLO, the Baader-Meinhof, and the Ku Klux Klan.

3 credits

Information Technology

Introduction to Networks — IT 246

We will study basic data communication and networking concepts for LAN and WAN; network protocols with emphasis on Ethernet, PPP, TCP/IP, and WWW protocols, and mobile and wireless networks. Network applications include Telnet, ftp, email, distributed file systems, and client-server applications. We survey network security issues. We will do hands-on network simulation and network sniffing exercises to see how these technologies work in practice.

3 credits

International Relations

The European Union (B) — IR 355L

This course focuses on the political, economic, and social trends affecting national and intra-regional developments within various countries, as well as on the institutions and processes of the European Union as an emerging supranational entity. Also covered: The European Union's external relations, with particular attention to US-European issues.

3 credits

Latin

Fundamentals of Latin I — LATIN 101

Designed to complete a standard basic textbook with Latin 102.

3 credits Dist WL

Fundamentals of Latin II — LATIN 102

Continuation of Latin 101.

3 credits Dist WL

Linguistics

Elementary American Sign Language II — LING 152

A continuation of LING 151 with emphasis on receptive and expressive skills. Note: LING 152 may be used as a distribution course only after successful completion of LING 153.

3 credits Dist WL

Prerequisite: LING 151 or permission of instructor.

Management

Introduction to Business — MGT 130

Familiarizes students with the nature of business and its relationship to other institutions in society. The course examines business ownership, organization, management, marketing, human resources management, production, and finance. In addition, it explores issues in the relationships between law and business and government and business.

3 credits

Management Science and Information Systems

CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Fundamentals of Information Technology

uc.umb.edu/certificates/infotech/

For more information, see page 44.

Introduction to Information Systems — MSIS 105

Introduces computers, information systems, and their use in society for students with minimal prior knowledge in this area. Topics include overviews of current information technology concepts and components, the Internet, and productivity software tools. The course offers an extensive hands-on component in the use of current technology. This course cannot be counted toward the management information systems or management science concentration in the College of Management.

3 credits

Introduction to Information Security MSIS 123

This course will present an overview of the threats to your information technology infrastructure and intellectual property, with an emphasis on the detection and prevention of intrusions or theft. The protection of services such as the World Wide Web, file sharing, and e-mail will be analyzed. The vulnerabilities and hardening of major operating systems such as Linux and Microsoft's Windows 2000 will be discussed. The course takes a holistic approach, discussing the technical but focusing on the need for proper training and procedures in the maintenance of an effective yet secure information technology infrastructure. While the material of the course is technical in nature, no systems administration or software development experience is assumed. A good familiarity with the use of the Internet and computers is required, and some knowledge of TCP/IP would be helpful.

3 credits

Introduction to Visual Basic.NET MSIS 124

This is an introductory course for Visual Basic.NET, an object-oriented, event-driven language that is a subset of the Visual Studio.NET environment. It is designed to provide the beginning Visual Basic programmer with the tools to create Visual Basic applications that conform to well-adopted Windows standards. In addition, it will introduce the students to object-oriented programming concepts, which are key to successful Windows and Web-based development efforts. While students are expected to have familiarity with basic Windows 95, Windows 98, or Windows 2000 concepts, little or no programming experience is required.

3 credits

Information Systems Development and Management MSIS 290

This course is designed to offer a comprehensive understanding of systems development and management in organizations by examining currently used techniques and system development methodologies. A range of life-cycle models are considered, including prototyping, evolutionary development, and object-oriented approaches. The aim is to present a balanced overview of the process of analyzing user requirements, designing and developing computerized information systems to meet these requirements, and managing the information resource function. The course introduces students to the pitfalls of systems development and implementation in organizations, with the aim of developing the student's critical thinking skills.

3 credits

Mathematics

Preparatory Work

Any student who intends to take a mathematics course at or below the level of MATH 140 (Calculus I) must furnish proof to the department that he or she is prepared for that course. The required proof is successful completion of the appropriate math placement test (see Diagnostic Testing, page 63).

College Algebra MATH 115

Designed primarily but not exclusively for students seeking a stronger foundation in algebra before taking MATH 129 or MATH 130. Topics include basic algebra concepts, linear equations and inequalities and inequalities, properties of functions, linear and quadratic functions, absolute value equations and inequalities, systems of equations.

3 credits

Prerequisite: MATH 125 or an appropriate score on the Math Placement Test.

Introductory Statistics MATH 125

Topics include introductory statistics, covering descriptive statistics; introductory probability sufficient to enable development of inferential statistics; and inferential statistics.

3 credits Dist MT

Prerequisite: MATH 114Q or 115 or 124 or 129 or 130 or 140 or appropriate scores on the Math Placement Test.

Precalculus MATH 130

Preparation for first year calculus. Covers symmetry, graphs, functions, lines, parabolas and max-min problems, exponential and logarithm functions, exponential growth, and the trigonometric functions and their inverses.
Note: No student receives graduation credits for MATH 130 if it is taken after successful completion of any higher math course. Students who have successfully completed MATH 130 may not subsequently take MATH 129 for credit. Students may take MATH 130 after MATH 129 only with explicit permission of the department, and then only for two credits.

3 credits Dist MT

Prerequisite: appropriate scores on the Math Placement Test or MATH 115 with a grade of B or better in the previous semester. Note: Students with grades lower than B in the pre-requisite course will be dropped from the class.

Managerial Algebra and Calculus MATH 134

A one-semester course in calculus, with particular emphasis on applications to economics and management. Topics covered include limits, continuity, derivatives, and integrals. Students may not receive graduation credit for both MATH 134 and MATH 135. Students may take MATH 140 after MATH 134, but only with the explicit permission of the department and then only for two credits.

3 credits Dist MT

Prerequisite: MATH 129 or 130 or appropriate scores on the Math Placement Test.

Music

An Introduction to Music — MUSIC 111

Basic music materials, principles of design, and the cultural significance of representative works in historical sequence. Designed primarily for non-music majors.

3 credits Dist AR

Applied Music — MUSIC 185

Private, individualized study of voice and all instruments covering both performing techniques and musicianship. Open to all students upon payment of an additional fee. Twelve hour or half-hour lessons per semester. May be repeated for credit. Students must contact the Music Department to register for lessons.

1 credit

Prerequisite: Students must contact the Music Department (617.287.5640) to register for lessons.

Universe of Music — MUSIC 248

An introduction to the infinite universe of music from its origins to the present, this course investigates the role of instruments, culture, myth and science in the evolution of music. Illustrations through the medium of the World Wide Web present the concept of music as both communication of ideas and expression of feelings in diverse musical traditions of the world.

3 credits Dist AR Div I

Music of Latin America — MUSIC 268

This course is an introductory online course dealing with the diverse musical tranditions of Latin America, including the role of music in society, ritual, and culture. The result is a comparative study of styles, dances, and instruments, with a certain emphasis given to the development of critical listening skills. Students need access to a coimputer with Internet sound capabilities. Course subject matter is generally limited to music that has surfaced and developed i Latin America and not as it has developed in the continental United States. Readings will be supplemented by various links as well as the Latin American audio selections available from the Naxos catalogue.

Nursing

DEGREE PROGRAM

Online RN-to-BS Program

uc.umb.edu/degree/rnbs/

For more information, see page 43.

*Note: Nursing courses require permission of the department. For more information, please contact kristen.carlson@umb.edu.

Legal, Ethical and Health Policy Issues — NURSNG 332

This course integrates ethical, legal, and health policy issues in contemporary nursing. The major ethical principles, several ethical theories and conceptual frameworks, as well as ethical decision-making models are reviewed. The ANA Code of Ethics with Interpretive Statements is analyzed in relation to individual practice settings and the nursing profession. Students utilize debate methodology to resolve common ethical dilemmas in nursing. Legal implications related to providing nursing care, particularly examples of malpractice, how a bill becomes a law, and the legislative process are discussed. Students also develop a position paper on a relevant health policy issue, including integration of relevant ethical, legal, legislative, and economic implications.

3 credits

Prerequisites: Nursing students only. Permission of department.

Professional Issues in Nursing — NURSNG 360

This is the first nursing course in the RN-BS Online Program. It is an intermediate seminar designed to assist registered nurses to develop the critical reading, writing and thinking skills necessary for successful university level study. Issues that significantly influence professional practice and nursing leadership are explored utilizing the above skills.

6 credits

Prerequisite: RN-BS students only. Permission of department.

Health Assessment and Promotion — NURSNG 361

This course focuses on the complete health assessment, the nursing process, and its relationship to the prevention and early detection of disease in clients across the life span. This course introduces processes of health assessment: interviewing, history-taking, and physical assessment. Dominant models, theories, and perspectives are used to explain health behaviors and are considered in relation to evidence-based health promotion and health education strategies. Students are also expected to identify and apply pathophysiological principles to selected health issues across the lifespan. The course includes a laboratory component complemented by self-directed computer-assisted instruction. Incorporated throughout the course is the importance of communication and collaboration across culturally diverse urban populations.

6 credits

Prerequisite: NURSNG 360. RN-BS students only. Permission of department.

Nursing Research and Information NURSNG 362

This course provides an overview of scientific research and nursing informatics. The course focuses on the interface of theory, research, and electronic technologies used in data acquisition, information management, and knowledge development. Emphasis is placed on ethical, theoretical, and methodological issues raised when studying and documenting the health related quality of life of urban populations and on the application of electronic networks in multidisciplinary healthcare delivery.

6 credits

Prerequisite: NURSNG 360. RN-BS students only. Permission of department.

Community Health Nursing for RNs NURSNG 461

The course enables students to perform complex, comprehensive interventions designed to improve public and community health care in the evolving health care system. Nursing practice is directed toward communicating effectively and working collaboratively with diverse urban communities and healthcare infrastructures to deliver quality, cost-effective and accessible health across the life span. Students will utilize information technology to generate empirical and theoretical knowledge bases for decision-making, critical thinking, designing and evaluation health care programs and outcomes. Students will assess and demonstrate accountability for self-learning needs when engaged in developing and advocating for programs designed to promote the health of vulnerable and other diverse urban populations.

6 credits

Prerequisite: NURSNG 360 and 362. BSN-RN students only . Permission of department.

Legal, Ethical & Health Policy and Capstone for RNs NURSNG 462

This course is the capstone for students in the online RN-BS program. This course enables students to analyze complex nursing issues from a legal, ethical, and political approach. This perspective will serve to guide health professionals to socially responsible practice and collaboration within the changing health care environment. In addition, the course conducts critical analyses of contemporary urban health and policy issues affecting individuals across the lifespan. The impact of the complex socio-political environments on how the health care system evolved and is continually reformed is explored. Different health issues and policies including communication, advocacy, and ethical concerns of access, quality, and cost will be examined. The ethical, legal and policy issues surrounding healthcare disparities will be examined. Students will use information technology to generate empirical and theoretical knowledge bases for decision-making, critical thinking and evaluation of health care policies and their outcomes.

6 credits

Prerequisite: NURSNG 360, 361, 362 and 461. RN-BS students only. Permission of department.

Philosophy

Introduction to Philosophy PHIL 100

An introductory examination of the problems and scope of philosophy.

3 credits Dist HU

Moral and Social Problems PHIL 108

Important moral and social issues of current concern are examined and debated. The course covers several problems each semester from a list including criminal punishment, war, abortion, racism, violence, the death penalty, private property, sexism, animal rights, the environment, and hunger.

3 credits Dist HU Div U

Moral Issues in Medicine PHIL 222

Concepts of health, illness and healing, under different paradigms of medicine. Is medicine an art or science? What is the impact of medical technology on human life and death? What is considered "natural"? Attention is given to issues in human reproduction (e.g. in vitro fertilization, conception, abortion). Questions of authority, accountability in doctor-patient relationships, patient advocacy, self help, right to health care or to refuse treatment. Social and political questions of health care organization.

3 credits Dist HU

Motion, Time and Memory in the Movies PHIL 281

This course discusses the philosophy of cinema from the perspective of its unique ability to explore time in its relation to motion and memory, through such techniques as fast and slow motion, reverse chronological ordering, flashbacks, montage, camera motion, varying depth of field, repetition, and nonlinear narrative construction. We will read the writings on cinema of the French philosophers Henri Bergson and Gilles Deleuze in an attempt to understand the path braking work of such directors as Welles, Hitchcock, Tarkovsky, Polanski, Tarantino, Resnais, Godard, Bunuel, Wenders, Herzog, the Coen Brothers, Nolan, Lynch, and Van Sant. We will interpret their work as profound and thoughtful, though non-conceptual explorations of some of the deepest aspects of human experience as it unfolds in the complex dimension of time.

3 credits

Physics

Energy for the Future — PHYSIC 134

The current means of providing energy for our society are not sustainable. The need for secure, alternative and clean sources of power is increasingly apparent. This course, intended for a general audience, provides an overview of the energy problem. It covers the ways we currently obtain and use power and considers the scientific and technological issues involved in emerging technologies.

3 Credits Dist NS

Political Science

Introduction to Politics — POLSCI 101

This course introduces and explores the conceptual vocabulary of politics. Though concerned with problems of political theory, it is designed not for theorists but for anyone who thinks, talks, or worries about the public world. A series of brief case studies is used to show how real-world outcomes are affected by our political ideas and assumptions.

3 credits Dist SB

Government and Politics of the United States — POLSCI 102

An introduction to the structures, processes, and results of the American governmental system. The course focuses on the national government and national political behavior, although state, regional, and local structures and issues are also introduced. Topics include institutions of government, political principles and ideologies, public opinion, political socialization, political parties, mass media, elections, interest groups, civil rights and civil liberties, public policies and policy making.

3 credits Dist SB

Comparative Politics: Third World — POLSCI 202

Introductory survey of political systems in non-industrialized nations, drawing on examples from Latin America, Africa, and Asia. Course content focuses on the nature of the development process and the evolution of political institutions and practices.

3 credits Div I

International Relations (B) — POLSCI 220

This course focuses on basic patterns and concepts which explain interactions among nations. Special attention is given to the role of ideologies, international organizations, conflict resolution, the impact of multinational corporations, underdevelopment, the international dimension of human rights, ethnic, "racial," religious, and gender differences, and the dynamics of globalization.

3 credits Div I

Modern Political Thought — POLSCI 252

The history of Western political ideas from the time of Machiavelli to that of Marx and Nietzsche.

3 credits

The European Union (B) — POLSCI 355L

This course focuses on the political, economic, and social trends affecting national and intra-regional developments within various countries, as well as on the institutions and processes of the European Union as an emerging supranational entity. Also covered: The European Union's external relations, with particular attention to US-European issues.

3 credits

Third World Development (C) — POLSCI 375

Investigation of theories of interdependence, dependency, and neocolonialism. Special attention to North/South relations, various approaches to development and forms of assistance provided by the industrial countries, resource problems, and other political and developmental issues facing North and South.

3 credits Div I

American Foreign Policy — POLSCI 424

Examines United States foreign policy in the post-World War II period. Focuses on both historical and institutional matters. Current issues are also given ample consideration.

3 credits

Psychology

Introduction to Psychology — PSYCH 100

A general survey of selected content areas in psychology, including personality and human development, physiological psychology, learning, intelligence, heredity and environment, and motivation and emotion.

3 credits Dist SB

Please note: Students who have already earned credits for PSYCH 101 may not register for this course.

Introduction to Behavioral Research — PSYCH 201

An introduction to the ways of discovering, describing and making warranted assertions about aspects of people and social life. The chief objectives are 1) to help students develop the skills and knowledge necessary to become intelligent critics of research in the behavioral and social sciences, and 2) to give them a rudimentary understanding of the design and evaluation of scientific research. Statistical material is treated in a conceptual manner. Classroom work and course examinations concentrate equally on research design and research evaluation.

3 credits

Prerequisite: PSYCH 100 or 101.

Psychology of Cross-cultural Relations — PSYCH 234

This course examines the nature and dynamics of inter-group relations within a multicultural context, studying relations among diverse cultures and racial groups in the United States and globally. The course looks at cross-cultural relations from an interdisciplinary perspective, discussing psychological and sociopolitical perspectives.

3 credits Div U

Prerequisite: PSYCH 100 or 101.

Abnormal Psychology PSYCH 315

This course examines the range of common psychological disorders, their characteristic symptoms, possible causes, and treatment. It takes a critical scientific approach to the criteria used to define psychological abnormality, the theories used to explain it, and the therapies used to treat it. Etiology, dynamics and treatment of psychopathology.

3 credits

Prerequisite: PSYCH 100 or 101.

Social Psychology PSYCH 330

A scientific attempt to understand and explain how the thought, feeling, and behavior of individuals are influenced by the actual, imagined, or implied presence of others; focuses on the drama of social interaction.

3 credits

Prerequisite: PSYCH 100 or 101.

Infancy and Childhood Development PSYCH 341

This course explores human development from infancy to middle childhood, i.e., from childbirth to ages seven or eight. Major emphasis is given to early perceptual, cognitive, social and affective development bearing the following questions in mind: How does the world of space and objects appear to the infant? How does he or she acquire knowledge and discover reality? How does the child experience the world of people and develop a sense of self? How does the child develop attachments to others and what role is played by the significant people in his or her life?

3 credits

Prerequisite: PSYCH 100 or 101.

Learning and Memory PSYCH 350

An introduction to current views of behavioral change, learning, and remembering. The course focuses on concepts, theoretical issues and applications of current research.

3 credits

Prerequisite: PSYCH 100 or 101.

Behavioral Neuroscience PSYCH 360

An overview of the field of neuroscience. Selected topics are neuroanatomy, brain physiology, communication in the central nervous system, immunology, and psychopharmacology. This course also includes a critical discussion of various research techniques. One goal for students is to develop critical thinking skills, as consumers of scientific information.

3 credits

Prerequisite: PSYCH 100 or 101, and PSYCH 105 or any BIOL course.

Sociology

Introduction to Sociology SOCIOL 101

The structure of society, cultural patterns, and group life. The individual and socialization, groups, institutions, social systems, and social change.

3 credits Dist SB

Criminology SOCIOL 262L

A general survey and analysis of adult crime. Attention to historical development of criminological thought, societal reaction to crime, and behavioral systems. Emphasis on theories of criminality and issues in the administration of justice by police and courts.

3 credits Dist SB

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101.

Family Violence SOCIOL 316

This course seeks to help participants develop a critical understanding of force and violence within the family structure. Emphasis is on violence between spouses, and between children and parents; and on the prevalence, the character, and the causes of such violence. Topics also include society"s reaction to family violence, and its policies of control and treatment; and the sexual abuse and exploitation of children and women.

3 credits

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101.

Racial and Ethnic Relations SOCIOL 321L

An examination of racial and ethnic relations in contemporary society, including the history and sociology of the immigration experience, bilingual education, the nature and character of discrimination, neighborhood change, and racial and ethnic conflict.

3 credits Dist SB Div U

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101.

Juvenile Delinquency SOCIOL 362

The nature and extent of delinquency. Consideration of theories, delinquent subculture, and programs for control and prevention.

3 credits

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101.

Corrections SOCIOL 363L

Prisons, jails, parole, and probation. Attention to inmate social structure, and philosophy underlying the correctional system and modern treatment approaches.

3 credits

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101 and CRMJUS/SOCIOL 262L.

Drugs and Society — SOCIOL 367L

This course examines the social origins and consequences of the use and abuse of consciousness-altering substances (including alcohol). It considers how society defines and deals with drug use and assesses social harm, including such issues as addictions and health effects, drugs and crime, the legislation debate, and drug policy and enforcement.

3 credits Dist SB

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101.

The Sociology of Gender — SOCIOL 382

This course analyzes the sociological determinants and consequences of gender-that is, how societies assign specific expectations, advantages, and disadvantages to people on the basis of the biological fact of their sex. It examines the inequality between men and women that is a feature of the structure of many societies, as well as the social-psychological dimensions influencing individual behavior.

3 credits Dist SB Div U

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101.

The Sociology of Law — SOCIOL 467L

A general analysis of the social origins and consequences of law and legal process; special emphasis on law as a method of conflict resolution and as a social control structure, and on law and social change. Attention also given to law in other societies, including non-literate societies, to the evolution and development of legal structures, and to patterns of due process and criminal law.

3 credits

Prerequisite: SOCIOL 101 and CRMJUS/SOCIOL 262L.

Spanish

CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Spanish/English Translation

uc.umb.edu/certificates/spanishtrans/

For more information, see page 44.

Elementary Spanish I — SPAN 101

Designed for students with little or no background in the Spanish language. SPAN 101 focuses on the acquisition of basic listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills within a cultural framework. Weekly laboratory attendance and assignments required. Students may not take both SPAN 101 and 105.

4 credits Dist WL

Prerequisite: The instructor reserves the right to place you in the appropriate course level.

Elementary Spanish II — SPAN 102

A continuation of SPAN 101. SPAN 102 focuses on furthering the acquisition of basic listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills within a cultural framework. Weekly laboratory attendance and assignments required. Students may not take both SPAN 102 and 106.

4 credits Dist WL

Prerequisite: The instructor reserves the right to place you in the appropriate course level.

Basic Spanish for Communication II — SPAN 106

A continuation of SPAN 105. Note: Students may not take both SPAN 102 and 106.

3 credits Dist WL

Prerequisite: The instructor reserves the right to place you in the appropriate course level.

Technical Education

Teaching Methods for Vocational-Technical Education: Instructional Strategies — OCC ED 220

This course provides vocational-technical teachers with a wide variety of researched based teaching methods and instructional strategies. Students in this course learn how to develop a unit of study and how instructional choices made by the vocational-technical educator are influenced by learning styles, motivation, and expectations. Students learn how to integrate vocational-technical and academic content by using a balanced instructional approach.

3 credits

Teaching and Assessing the Vocational-Technical Learner — OCC ED 221

This course provides vocational-technical teachers with the knowledge and tools to instruct and assess the technical, academic and employability skills of vocational students. Students in this course will learn to identify, develop, and model appropriate learning activities and assessments for the vastly divergent student population in vocational-technical education.

3 credits

Developing & Implementing a Standards-Based Curriculum in Vocational-Technical Education — OCC ED 222

This course provides vocational technical educator candidates with the knowledge of the elements of a quality curriculum. Students learn how to develop a vocational technical curriculum and a competency-based student reporting system that incorporates the standards and performance indicators of the Academic and Vocational Technical Curriculum Frameworks. It is one of the courses required to obtain licensure as a vocational technical educator in Massachusetts.

3 credits

Addressing the Needs of Students with Disabilities in Vocational-Technical Education — OCC ED 224

This course provides Vocational Technical teachers with an overview of the Federal and State Special Education Laws and Regulations and how they are implemented in schools in Massachusetts. Students learn the elements of the Individual Education Plan (IEP), the roles of special and general educators, how to design curriculum and instruction using the information on the IEP, and how to modify their related classrooms to accommodate students with disabilities.

3 credits

Theatre Arts

Introduction to Theatre — THRART 100

This course introduces the collaborative art of theatre from the varied perspectives of playwright, director, designer, technician, actor, critic, and informed audience.

3 credits

Musical Theatre — THRART 303

An introduction to styles, kinds, and techniques of performance in musical theatre, from early mime through commedia dell'arte, opera and operetta, and modern musical comedy. Vocal and movement training, scene work and musical numbers developed, as well as semester projects of musical performances.

3 credits

Women's Studies

Women and Society — WOST 100

This interdisciplinary course examines how gender interacts with social institutions such as the family, education, the media, organized religion, law and government, and how that interaction shapes human behavior. Students will learn to address controversial issues raised by the feminist movement, and to relate these to their own lived experiences in meaningful and productive ways.

3 credits Dist SB Div U

Women in Global Perspectives — WOST 110

This interdisciplinary course explores multiple meanings of gender in a transnational world. Topics include: contradictory meanings of traditional femininity across cultures; global media representations of the female body, beauty, sexuality; impacts of colonialism, nationalism, patriarchy, and the global economy on women's work and family lives; women's rights as human rights; and local and transnational feminist activisms.

3 credits Dist SB Div I

Women, Culture and Identity — WOST 150

This course explores cultural beliefs about women's "nature" and role at different times and places, drawing on materials from literature, including fiction and autobiography, and from history and feminist analysis. Using a thematic rather than a chronological approach, the course will focus on the ways in which intersection of race, class and gender affects the lives and self-concepts of women, in the U.S. and in other societies in the world.

3 credits Dist HU

Twentieth Century Women Writers: A Feminist Perspective — WOST 200

An intermediate-level course which examines the ways women writers in this century have dealt with some important themes of contemporary feminism. Novels, short stories, some analytical essays and autobiographies are used.

3 credits Dist AR Div U

Women's Health Care — WOST 260

This course focuses on women's concerns in relation to health. Topics include health issues unique to women (such as birth control, pregnancy, childbearing); nutrition; occupational health; health and aging; women as health workers; and the history, activities, and influence of the women's health movement.

3 credits

Women in Modern China — WOST 359L

This course examines the social and cultural roles of Chinese women, and their changes over time. Emphasis is given to twentieth-century China, especially the People's Republic period.

3 credits Dist WC Div I

Graduate Courses

The following graduate courses are drawn from a wide range of UMass Boston master's and doctoral programs; many of these programs are offered through University College and are described on pages 41-46. Students may generally apply up to six credits they earn as non-matriculated students toward a graduate degree or certificate; however, successfully completing a graduate course does not imply admission to a graduate program.

Many of these courses are open to any student with a bachelor's degree, but others have prerequisites or require permission of the instructor or the graduate program office. If you have questions about your eligibility to enroll in a graduate course, turn to page 62, Academic Information, or for further assistance call 617.287.7900.

Applied Linguistics

DEGREE PROGRAMS

MA in Applied Linguistics: English as a Second Language and Foreign Language Pedagogy Concentrations

uc.umb.edu/degree/apling/

For more information, see page 41.

Writing Theories in Second Language Instruction APLING 669

This course will consider the key issues in writing theory, research, and pedagogy as they are specifically related to writing in a second language. It will introduce students to the existing research and developing theories on the composing process and examine, critique, and evaluate current and traditional theories and practices by exploring the ways in which theory and research can be translated into instruction.

3 credits

Business Administration

Statistical Analysis for Managers MBAMS 630

Acquaints students with statistical techniques used in management decision-making and develops their ability to characterize management problems that can be solved by such techniques. Topics include descriptive statistics, probability distributions, sampling, estimation, hypothesis testing, simple and multiple regression and correlation, chi square testing, analysis of variance, and decision theory. Students make use of computers and appropriate software to apply what they are learning.

3 credits

Counseling

DEGREE PROGRAMS

MS in Family Therapy Counseling
MS in Mental Health Counseling
MS in Rehabilitation Counseling
MEd in School Guidance Counseling

uc.umb.edu/degree/counseling/

For more information, see page 42.

Research and Evaluation in Psychology — COUNSL 601

This course examines several research models and strategies with respect to their various rationales and methodologies. Relevant statistical topics are introduced conceptually, especially as they are applied in research about specific academic settings.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of department.

Family Therapy Theories — COUNSL 622

This course is focused on general concepts of systems theory and on theoretical frameworks that inform family therapy. Family therapy theories and interventions and the feasibility of family therapy will be discussed within a historical context. Students will be given the opportunity to integrate family therapy theories with their experiences and perceptions of their families-of-origin. The influence of culture, race, social class, and gender on families and family therapy theories will be highlighted. Experiential exercises and videotapes of therapy sessions will be used to demonstrate the impact of family therapy theories on client-family interactions and family therapy sessions.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of department.

Family Therapy Supervision and Consultation — COUNSL 680

This course reviews the state of the art in consultation with and supervision of family therapists. Students explore the context, philosophy, relationships, and pragmatics of supervision. They also analyze such major systemic supervision models as intergenerational, integrative, Post-Milan, and constructionist. A central focus of the course is the emphasis given to a "hands-on" experience. In addition to studying the models, students experience an ongoing relationship as both supervisee and supervisor. The course frames the supervisory process as a conversation embedded in the interplay of race, class, gender, and institutional politics. As a result, discussions focus on issues of sexual orientation, cultural sensitivity, the mandate to educate urban practitioners, and changing clinical and economic realities. The course involves face-to-face supervision, genograms, videotapes, and other family therapy supervisory techniques. Consideration is given to the life experiences of course participants, as well as to ethical and legal issues. Other topics include the differences between supervisor and consultant stances and the potential use of family therapy techniques in organizational settings.

3 credits

Prerequisite: This course is only open to licensed Marriage and Family Therapists with a requirement to send proof of license.

Critical and Creative Thinking

CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Creative Thinking at Work

uc.umb.edu/certificates/cct/

For more information, see page 45.

Creative Thinking — CRCRTH 602

This course seeks to increase the participants' understanding of creativity, to improve their creative problem-solving skills, and to enhance their ability to promote these skills in others, in a variety of educational settings. Students participate in activities designed to help develop their own creativity and discuss the creative process from various theoretical perspectives. Readings are on such topics as creative individuals, environments that tend to enhance creative functioning, and related educational issues. Discussions with artists, scientists, and others particularly involved in the creative process focus on their techniques and on ways in which creativity can be nurtured.

3 credits

Dialogue Processes — CRCRTH 616

Genuine dialogue provides a creative space in which may emerge entirely new ways of thinking, acting, and relating to others. At the heart of such dialogue is holding respect for oneself, for one another, and for a commonly created pool of meaning. Course participants learn and experience approaches to listening and dialogue derived from Buber, Bohm, Isaacs, Jackins, Weissglass, and others, that allow us to become more aware of the underlying beliefs, assumptions, and emotions that limit our thinking and our responses to the world. Discussions explore applications of dialogue processes in educational, organizational, social, and personal change.

3 credits

Creative Thinking, Collaboration, and Organizational Change — CRCRTH 618

Through interactive, experiential sessions and structured assignments, students learn critical and creative approaches to working in organizations. Skills addressed include: communication and team-building; facilitation of participation and collaboration in groups; promotion of learning from a diversity of perspectives; problem-finding and solving; and reflective practice. Students apply these skills to situations that arise in business, schools, social change groups, and other organizations with a view to taking initiative and generating constructive change.

3 credits

Reflective Practice — CRCRTH 688

Reflective practitioners in any profession pilot new practices, take stock of outcomes and reflect on possible directions, and make plans to revise their practice accordingly. They also make connections with colleagues who model new practices and support the experimenting and practice of others. Students in this course gain experiences and up-to-date tools for reflective practice through presentations, interactive and experiential sessions, and, optionally, supervised pilot activities in schools, workplaces, and communities.

1-3 credits

Processes of Research and Engagement — CRCRTH 692

In this course students identify issues in educational or other professional settings on which to focus their critical and creative thinking skills. Each student works through the different stages of research and action-from defining a manageable project to communicating findings and plans for further work. Supervision is provided when the student's research centers on new teaching practices, workshops in the community, or other kinds of engagement as an intern or volunteer. The classes run as workshops, in which students are introduced to and then practice using tools for research, writing, communicating, and supporting the work of others.

3 credits

Gerontology

DEGREE AND CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS

MS in Gerontology: Management of Aging Services Track

Certificate in Gerontology: Focus on Management of Aging Services

uc.umb.edu/degree/gerontology/

uc.umb.edu/certificates/gerontology/

For more information, see page 42, 45.

Health and Physical Changes in Aging — GERON GR 611

Those who provide and manage services for the elderly, or are involved in public policy and research concerning the elderly, need knowledge about the physical process of aging. This course describes the physiological changes that accompany the aging process and relates these to social and economic factors that influence health status. Discussion topics include issues of prevention, health promotion and health maintenance, and selected disorders that affect health and independent living.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Graduate student in Gerontology or department permission.

Social Aspects of Aging — GERON GR 621

This course presents a social perspective on the aging process. It considers social factors that influence aging and the nature of the integration of the aged into society, as well as the way in which population aging affects the society as a whole. The course also looks at social theories of aging, paying special attention to changing social roles, social stratification and aging, and the development of institutions for the aged. Gender, race, ethnicity, and class are discussed as social categories that influence aging and that play a role in the determination of social policy for the aged. Readings on the status, role, and culture of the aged are drawn from the literature of sociology, economics, and anthropology.

3 credits

Issues in Aging Policy — GERON GR 623

This course introduces students to the development, implementation, and analysis of social policy in the United States on major issues affecting older people. Income security, health care financing, and long-term care receive major attention. Discussions also focus on the programs mandated by the Older Americans Act; and participants examine the major normative, demographic, economic, and political forces that underlie aging policy.

3 credits

Marketing of Aging Services — GERON GR 645

This course examines marketing principles as applied to aging services organizations. Students will learn about marketing concepts, objectives, and brand names. The course will also explore the current structure of aging organizations in Massachusetts and relate these to current marketing principles and strategies. Students will learn to apply marketing concepts to effectively manage and operate an aging services organization. This course provides students with the opportunity to see how marketing principles and practice come together within the context of various types of aging services organizations in Massachusetts.

3 credits

Service Delivery Issues in Aging — GERON GR 650

This course is concerned with the link between consumers and aging services in setting with well developed formal services. The aim of the course is to provide students with an understanding of the structural problems that underlie the challenges that consumers face in using formal services. The course will cover a wide range of services that older people may need, the complementary relationship between formal and informal services, boundaries issues among service specialties and service professionals, service coordination and integration, and the role of both consumer direction and professional case management in negotiating service systems.

3 credits

Organization and Financing of Aging Services — GERON GR 660

The influences of organizational and financial forces upon aging services are analyzed in this course. Various public (federal and state) and private sources of funding are considered. Three sources of public financing-Medicare, Medicaid, and the Older Americans Act-are examined in depth. The relative strengths of public and private funding are examined with attention to both access and quality issues. The implications of both the financing and organizational forces are considered for several major service modalities, including nursing homes, assisted living, home care, and adult day care.

3 credits

Human Resources & Personnel Management in Aging Services — GERON GR 670

This course is designed to familiarize students with the concepts of human resources management as they are applied tin primarily public, non-profit settings. In particular, the course will focus on human resources and personnel management as applied to the aging services field. The examples used in the course will come from organizations such as nursing homes, assisted living facilities, home health agencies, senior centers and councils on aging. Issues to be addressed will include hiring and supervision, performance appraisal, mentoring, career planning, equal employment opportunity, diversity and collective bargaining. Students will examine job design and pay systems, methods of personnel selection and training, issues of productivity and work hours, team building, effects of government regulations on working conditions and personnel administration.

3 credits

Organizational Theory, Behavior and Aging Services — GERON GR 675

This course examines the evolution of organizational theory from early principles to current approaches and practices. Students will learn about the structure of organizations including internal and external forces. The course will also explore the current structure of aging services organizations in Massachusetts. Students will research the various levels of aging services organizations and their relationships with federal, state and local government agencies and with other local organizations.

3 credits

Financial Management in Aging Services — GERON GR 680

The objective of this course is to introduce principles and applications of healthcare/long-term care financial management based on theory and practices in Accounting and Finance. The course is user oriented and focuses on issues that are important to managers for planning and decision making in the eldercare industry. Given the increased emphasis on financial viability, it is felt that all aspiring managers in any organization, be it for profit or not-for-profit, should have a basic understanding of factors that help improve the financial well being of an organization. For any organization, the three critical elements of financial management are (1) basic knowledge about accounting information, (2) relevant industry factors and (3) principles of economics upon which many types of business decisions are made. Although the user is not aspiring to become a CPA, in order to make informed decisions it is essential to have an understanding of the terminology and techniques of generating and reporting financial information. Also, all organizations work within specific industries and fields and they have to work within the competitive and regulatory environment surrounding that industry that impacts all managerial decisions. This course provides students with the tools to operate within these contexts.

3 credits

Capstone Project Seminar — GERON GR 691

The course guides each master's student through the production to completion of a research project and report. Topics include a critique of unresolved issues in analyses of age, cohort, and period effects; an exposition of theoretical developments in social gerontological theory and their application to the issue of social policy and aging; explication of a research project, including interview training; research problem development, implementation of appropriate research methods for specific problems, and how to prepare a written document that describes the design of the project, the results of the analysis, and conclusions.

3 credits

Prerequisite: GERON 601 and 603. Graduate student in Gerontology.

History

Research Seminar — HIST 600

This is the introductory course in historical research and methods. Readings draw upon diverse historical materials, with special attention to primary materials. Emphasis is given to the development of research and writing skills. It is normally taught in American history.

3 credits

Instructional Design

DEGREE AND CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS

MEd in Instructional Design

Certificate in Instructional Technology Design

uc.umb.edu/id/med/

uc.umb.edu/id/certificate/

For more information, see page 42, 46.

Please note: On-campus Instructional Design courses follow a different academic calendar from online courses. The start and end dates for each course are listed in the course matrix.

Introduction to Instructional Design — INSDSG 601

This course provides an introduction to the cognitive and experiential content of the program, emphasizing the components of the instructional design model. Various instruction design models are analyzed and students are expected to complete, as a final project a learning module micro-design.

3 credits

The Adult as Learner — INSDSG 602

Students are introduced to the body of knowledge concerning adults as learners. This course focuses on the principles of adult education, learning styles, variables that affect adult learning, motivation techniques, appropriate training methodologies, reinforcement of learning, skill transfer, and measurement procedures for identifying learner characteristics.

3 credits

Selection and Evaluation of Instructional Materials — INSDSG 603

This course analyzes the factors that determine the selection, evaluation, and utilization of materials used in instructional design. It studies the comparative instructional value of a wide range of electronic and print materials. At the end of the course, students will be able to choose materials on the basis of cost effectiveness, technical quality, teaching-learning mode, physical facilities, and availability of technologies.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601 or permission of instructor.

Communication Theory for Organizations — INSDSG 604

This course focuses on the study of communication as applied to instruction design and on theories of media communication. It covers audience variables, systems of media analysis, message structure, environmental factors, and the integration of these elements into an efficient communication model.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601 or permission of instructor.

Production of Media Materials — INSDSG 605

This course provides a systematic survey of a variety of media formats including visual displays, audio and visual presentations. Aspects of theory include psychological principles and research on media as a teaching mode. Students have the opportunity of applying knowledge and skills to selected areas of media production, especially as they provide solutions to instructional problems.

3 credits

Writing for the Business Professional — INSDSG 614

This course is designed to help participants develop effective writing. It provides both analysis of written documents and a theoretical review of professional writing techniques. Assignments emphasize the writing tasks typically required of training and development specialists in any organization. They include the design, assessment, marketing, and evaluation of instruction. Participants develop the skills for effective communication with those outside the organization, and those at all levels within it.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601. Masters in Instructional Design student or permission.

Production of Computer-Based Training — INSDSG 616

A basic course in developing computer-based presentation programs. Through such programs as Hypercard and Powerpoint, students are introduced to state-of-the-art CBT development software. The course addresses user interface design; the execution of common instructional strategies employed in training products; techniques of graphics production (scanners, clip art, and paint programs) and sound production techniques (Macrecorder and Macintalk); and introductory scripting in HyperTalk. The course is project-based: students work in teams to design, make prototypes, and produce simple CBT or multimedia programs.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601 or permission of instructor.

Assessment in the Instructional Design Process — INSDSG 618

This course examines assessment in all phases of the instructional design process, including needs analysis and the various stages of formative and summative evaluation. Topics include various types of data, techniques for data gathering, the construction of questionnaires, a hands-on review of computer programs, and characteristic issues in the analysis and interpretation of assessment. The course also offers practical experience in the use of representative measures and applications.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601. Masters in Instructional Design student or permission.

Design and Instruction of Online Courses — INSDSG 619

This course is for instructors, teachers, trainers, or instructional designers who want to explore the critical success factors in designing and delivering online instruction. Through readings, discussion, and various activities, we will examine the pedagogical implications of technology-mediated learning, the dynamics of the virtual classroom, the elements of effective online course design, as well as the tools and technologies available to create and deliver online instruction design, and to assess student performance. Through group-based and individual project work, we will design and create online lessons. This course will use a range of interactive and collaborative instructional techniques in an effort to provide current or potential online instructors rich firsthand experience of what it is like to be a student learning in an online environment.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601. Masters in Instructional Design student or permission.

Interpersonal Skills and Group Dynamics — INSDSG 620

This course introduces the students to the body of knowledge governing interpersonal, intrapersonal, and public communication. Through readings and the laboratory method, students learn human relations skills for effectiveness in personal and career situations. Topics include perception, listening, conflict resolution, and group dynamics.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601. Masters in Instructional Design student or permission.

Curriculum Development for Organizations — INSDSG 622

In this course, students learn to develop curriculum used in organizations according to principles of instructional design. Students research and write a complete instructor manual/lesson plan and accompanying student folder/manual on a selected training topic. Curriculum development topics include: writing course goals and performance objectives; testing mechanism; complete lesson plan content; instructional methodologies and strategies such as role plays, group activities, case studies; creating original materials such as student handouts, prepared flipcharts, PowerPoint slide presentations, or other media as needed; equipment and technology; curriculum standards; and evaluation strategy.

3 credits

Managing The Training Function INSDSG 630

This course focuses on the requirements for successfully managing an organization's training function. Areas of concentration include building a training department; managing change and stress; delegating; communicating performance expectations; winning management support; and long-range planning. Classes include small and large group instruction, video, participatory exercises, and case studies.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601. Masters in Instructional Design student or permission.

Planning and Design of Educational Multimedia Programs INSDSG 640

This course helps students become familiar with the current uses of the video disk and other multimedia, as well as with such delivery platforms for multimedia as SonyViewSystem, IBM M-motion, IBM's DVI, Philips CDI, and with the planning, budgeting, and logistics of video production. Participants learn the range of authoring tools that exist for these systems and their relative advantages. They apply principles of instructional and courseware design and study the practical considerations involved in the production of visual media, as well as writing a design proposal and a multimedia project budget. Using this general design document, students produce specifications for the video, computer program flow, graphic screens, video disk layout, and other effects that translate the original instructional design into a usable program. They also achieve basic proficiency in the use of a popular project management software program.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601 or permission of instructor.

Project in Multimedia INSDSG 655

Students work with UMass Boston faculty, teachers in cooperating schools, or sponsoring corporations to make a prototype multimedia application or to produce a planning document for multimedia implementation in the client organization. Students may participate in projects pre-arranged by the instructional technology staff or may generate their own, working individually or in a team.

3 credits

Prerequisite: INSDSG 601 and 617, and graduate degree student.

Capstone Seminar INSDSG 690

The course provides guidance and a structured environment in which students develop advanced instructional design skill in the context of their capstone project. Based on the nature and complexity of the students' projects, the course deals with such topics as: component display analysis; needs assessment data, analysis and reporting techniques; cognitive flexibility theory; competencies modeling; and self-directed/ learner-centered strategies. Students who have completed eight or more requirements for the Instructional Design MEd should enroll in this course.

3 credits

Independent Study INSDSG 696

The comprehensive study of a particular topic or area in instructional design, as determined by the needs of the individual student. The student works under the guidance and supervision of the instructor.

3-6 credits

Internship INSDSG 698

The internship is a culminating experience in which the student assumes responsibility for an instructional design and technology project. The student works under the guidance and supervision of both the instructor and the organization for which the project is to be done.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of department.

Human Diversity in Healthcare NURSNG 613

This course examines the challenges associated with providing competent health care to diverse populations and examines its effects on the health of individuals, groups, and populations. Health behavior and health care outcomes are analyzed within the context of social, economic, political, and cultural forces. Implications of an increasingly diverse population for nursing education, research, and practice are determined, and strategies for improving the management of human diversity in nursing and health care are critically analyzed.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Advanced Pathophysiology NURSNG 614

This course focuses on the analysis, interpretation, and evaluation of pathophysiological processes throughout the lifespan. Relevant research is integrated into evidenced-based nursing practice.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Advanced Health Assessment — NURSNG 615

This course focuses on the development of advanced practice nursing skills in health assessment for urban populations. Concepts, theories and research on human development, anticipatory guidance, prevention and early detection of risk factors and disease are emphasized. Critical thinking, diagnostic reasoning and communication skills are developed through practice with cases guided vignettes and simulated practice experiences specific to the students area of advanced practice nursing in the college laboratory.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Evidence Based Practice — NURSNG 616

This course focuses on theory-guided and evidenced based research to prepare students to become proficient in translating research into practice. Emphasis will be placed on research as a tool to improve practice. Students will learn to identify clinically focused problems and evaluate the best design to answer the question. Critical analysis of qualitative and quantitative research findings in order to apply best evidence will be emphasized. Through a systematic literature review, students will synthesize research related to a clinical practice problem and develop skills in the use of electronic databases. Ethical issues in the conduct of clinically focused research will be explored.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Health Policy, Finance, Ethics — NURSNG 618

This course is designed to examine how ethical, financial, and health policy issues and concerns are linked in the health care delivery system. The role of the nurse in developing a professional ethical framework, understanding the economic implications of health care, and shaping and formulating health policy will be stressed. Several decision-making models and strategies in health policy, finances, and ethics will be compared. Relevant research in health policy, finances, and ethics will be analyzed.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

The Role of the Advanced Practice Nurse — NURSNG 631

The historical development, scope, and functional roles of the advanced practice nurse are analyzed. Students examine the dynamic relationships among professional organizations, health care trends, and health care policy as they influence the need for advanced practice nursing. Emphasis is placed on acquiring the knowledge and skills to assume leadership roles in the health care system. Related health professions theories, research, and opportunities for implementing changes are emphasized. Critical thinking, group dynamics, leadership skills, and role of the APN as educator are studied and modeled in classroom experiences and course assignments.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Advanced Pharmacology — NURSNG 634

The course focuses on the role of advanced practice nurses in applying pharmacotherapeutics to the management of health and illness in populations at risk for morbidity and mortality. Students acquire advanced knowledge as a foundation for prescribing and monitoring pharmaceutical and alternative therapeutic agents. Emphasis is placed on synthesis of pharmacokinetics and pharmacodynamics principles for the prevention and treatment of acute and chronic illnesses. Evidence-based outcomes, consensus guidelines, and research studies are critiqued. Ethical, legal, and risk-management issues are discussed.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Mental and Psychosocial Health of the Urban Family — NURSNG 637

Multicultural individuals and families at risk for mental and psychosocial problems are considered within the context of urban living. Nursing theory and research is applied to developing processes of care for individuals across the lifespan with mental health and psychosocial problems. Students learn evidence-based care including cognitive-behavioral, psychopharmacological, and non-traditional approaches to psychosocial and related physical problems. Research related to environmental, psychosocial, genetic, economic, family systems, developmental risk factors, drug efficacy and nonpharmacological approaches for individuals with mental and psychosocial illness is investigated. The impact of contemporary health care policy and legislative proposals on quality, cost, and access to care is investigated.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Primary Care of Adults — NURSNG 639

Students examine the nursing and health related theory and research applied to the primary care management of adults with episodic and chronic illness. Diagnostic, therapeutic, and pharmacological regimens are examined. Legal, ethical, and health policy issues that impact the delivery of primary health services are integrated. Continued emphasis is placed on developing social cultural sensitivity to the variations in health care needs of urban populations.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Primary Care of Older Adults — NURSNG 671

This course focuses on the health care issues and needs of elders across the care continuum of acute, chronic, community, and long-term-care settings. Aspects of physical, emotional, and social aging across the lifespan are explored utilizing various theoretical perspectives and models. The assessment, teaching-coaching, and management roles of the advanced practice gerontological nurse in relation to acute and chronic health conditions of the older adult are emphasized. The complex interplay of the political, economic, legal, and ethical factors that influence health care delivery to older adults is examined.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Primary Care of the Adult/Older Adult Practicum III — NURSNG 672

Students further refine skills in critical thinking and clinical reasoning in the application of theory and research to practice. Assessment, diagnostic, therapeutic, and health teaching strategies are applied to a continuum of health promotion/illness problems, with a focus on the primary care of adults and older adults across the continuum of care. Seminars are grounded in learning the application of theory and research to the domains of practice of the adult/gerontological nurse practitioner, including the management of patient health and illness and the teaching-coaching function of the nurse practitioner and ensuring the quality of health care practices. Interdisciplinary collaborative practice skills are developed. Students develop role competencies under the supervision of nurse practitioner preceptors and faculty in urban health care settings.

6 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Primary Care of the Family Practicum II — NURSNG 680

Family nursing theory and research are further integrated as students develop competencies in their role as family nurse practitioner. Under the supervision of nurse practitioners and faculty, students manage and coordinate primary care for multicultural urban families experiencing a continuum of health promotion, episodic, and chronic illness problems. The diagnostic, therapeutic, evaluative, consultative, and teaching functions of the nurse practitioner role are examined within a professional, ethical and legal framework. Skills in collaborative interdisciplinary practice are emphasized. Seminar discussions include an exploration of the health policy issues that influence the delivery of health care to underserved urban families and communities.

6 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Primary Care of the Childbearing Family — NURSNG 681

Students integrate research from the pathophysiological, behavioral, social, and nursing sciences. The primary care needs of multicultural families in urban communities are addressed. Problems of women, infants, and children are analyzed within a family nurse practitioner framework for practice. Evidence-based laboratory, diagnostic, therapeutic, and pharmacological plans of care are applied to problem management. Emphasis is placed on developing advanced competence in the management of common health and illness. Health policies, including cost, quality, access to care, and evaluation and management guidelines for reimbursement, are integrated throughout the course.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Primary Care of the Family Practicum III and Capstone — NURSNG 682

Students further refine skills in critical thinking in the application of theory and research to practice. Assessment, diagnostic, therapeutic, and health teaching strategies are applied to a continuum of health promotion/illness problems with a focus on the primary care of women, infants, and children. Seminars are grounded in learning the application of theory and research to the domains of practice of the family nurse practitioner, including the management of patient health and illness and the teaching-coaching function of the nurse practitioner and ensuring the quality of health care practices. Interdisciplinary collaborative practice skills are developed. Students develop role competencies under the supervision of nurse practitioner preceptors and faculty in urban health care settings.

6 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Health Informatics — NURSNG 715

Students learn advanced practice nursing competencies related to computer skills, informatics skill, and informatics knowledge. Application of information theory and computer technology skills is directed towards improving the organization and delivery of healthcare to multicultural populations receiving primary, secondary, and tertiary health care. Health Informatics deals with using technology tools for optimizing the collection, verification and utilization of data that relates to generating knowledge to inform best practices and leadership in both public and private health systems. Students are directed to investigate ways in which information systems can address disparities in health services.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

DNP Internship II — NURSNG 762

Emphasis is placed on translation of research into practice as a means to improved the delivery of health care. In supervised clinical experiences, students continue to develop competence in the role of the DNP including experiences in leadership, consultation, advocacy, and interdisciplinary collaboration, and translation of research and theory into practice. Clinical learning is directed at discovering the history, and contextual evidence, and current strategies related to problems affecting patient safety and the quality of health care services. Students participate in leadership and change agent experiences consistent with behaviors expected of the Doctor of Nursing Practice. Students investigate clinical problems in context of the health care system and analyze influencing factors; seek IRB approval and defend the capstone project proposal. Students successful in defending their proposal may move forward to the action phase of the capstone.

1 credit

Prerequisite: NURSNG 616, 760, and 761, PBHLTH Informatics. Permission of program director. Corequisite: NURSNG 716.

Capstone Seminar and Internship IV — NURSNG 764

Students continue to integrate the role of the DNP in the clinical practice context that includes leadership, consultation, advocacy, and interdisciplinary collaboration. They will synthesize the highest level of scientific knowledge and clinical practice expertise to the solving of an identified health care delivery problem for populations at risk. Following DNP committee and IRB approvals of the capstone project work done in preceding courses, students complete the Doctor of Nursing Practice immersion experience, summarize their portfolio experiences to reflect their meeting the Essentials Competencies, and submit and defend their scholarly capstone project work. In seminars, students meet to explore the projects and findings of their colleagues and discuss application of evidence and theory to solving health services delivery problems.

3 credits

Prerequisites: NURSNG 722, 761, 762, 763 and MBA 650. Permission of program director.

Leadership and Management in Health Care — NURSNG 765

The course will provide an introduction and overview of leadership, management, and organizational behavior in health care. Students will integrate theory with practice in the development of skills necessary to provide organizational and systems leadership in health care settings. Students will apply content from lectures and readings to cases studies as well as to actual experiences from their own workplaces. Topics include leadership and management theories/models, strategic planning, fiscal management, human resource management, and managing change in a complex environment.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

Biostatistics II: Advanced Statistical Methods in Healthcare Research — NURSNG 770

This is the second course in a two-semester Biostatistics sequence. This course covers several advanced methods of statistical analysis that are most often used in Healthcare research, including multiple linear regression, logistic regression, log-linear (Poisson) regression, Cox proportional hazards regression, and longitudinal data analysis. This course also discusses the methods and techniques in assessing the presenting confounding and interaction effects, and handling missing values. The primary purpose of this course is to help students gain understanding of the advanced statistical methods and use these concepts to critique literature in the field of clinical and population based research.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of program director.

For more information, see page 46.

Cervantes and His World — SPAN 530

This course, designed for pre-service and in-service teachers, provides an in-depth analysis of Cervantes' Don Quixote (original Spanish version). The course will examine the cultural production as well as the social conditions of 16th- and 17th-century Spain as expressed in the life and work of Miguel de Cervantes.

3 credits

Prerequisite: Permission of department required (617.287.7550).

Caribbean Borders: Literature & Identity in the Hispanic Caribbean — SPAN 540

Designed for pre- and in-service teachers of Spanish, this course examines cultural production and social development in the Hispanic Caribbean. We begin with the cultural dilemma and social implications posed by the "narrative" of Western colonization in the Caribbean, to then survey the major consequences, processes, and repetitive patterns impacting the region. Out main goal will be to historicize and interrogate the creation of a Caribbean cultural discourse. This course will prepare teachers to develop connections between course content and the Massachusetts Curriculum Framework for Foreign Languages and the National Standards for Foreign Language Learning.

About Online Learning

Courses and programs in this bulletin marked with the symbol are available online. UMass Boston has been offering online courses and programs through University College for almost a decade, and our online offerings and instructors have won numerous awards. Through UMass Online, the University's systemwide distance learning agency, UMass Boston's online programs reach national and international markets—including China, where a 2008 agreement will make the University of Massachusetts the first foreign university approved to offer online courses and degree programs in China.

If you need further information about UMass Boston online courses, contact Jason Campos (617.287.7912; jason.campos@umb edu) or visit uc.umb.edu/dl.

Online Courses

Our online courses have been developed by UMass Boston faculty and use the Blackboard Vista 4 course management system. You can register for these courses just as you would for any other credit course, using the registration form on page 68 following the instructions on page 66. If you register by mail or fax, please be sure to clearly print your email address.

Registered online students will receive a confirmation of registration in the mail AND a notification about a week before the course is due to start, giving password, Login ID and location of the login gateway website. This notification will come as an email to a campus email address created by UMass Boston for university communications.

Degree Programs

Post Master's Doctor of Nursing Practice

The Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) is a 39-credit doctoral program at UMass Boston's College of Nursing and Health Sciences, open to applicants holding a master's degree with preparation as family, gerontological, or adult nurse practitioners or as clinical nurse specialists. The DNP is differentiated from the PhD by its focus on developing graduates at the highest level of excellence in nursing practice and clinical leadership. Graduates will gain knowledge and competence in health systems leadership, policy development, and interdisciplinary collaboration to improve health care quality and increase health care access for all populations. Course work and internships focus on preparing graduates with transformational leadership skills in program development and policy change.

MA in Applied Linguistics: English as a Second Language and Foreign Language Pedagogy Concentrations

This 30-credit program focuses on the acquisition of English as a second or subsequent language, as well as cross-cultural relationships and interethnic communication. Its interdisciplinary core curriculum includes courses in basic and contrastive linguistics, psycholinguistics, sociolinguistics and cross-cultural perspectives, together with courses on teaching methodology for elementary, secondary, and adult education programs. The online program will offer a minimum of four courses each semester. Because students' day and time constraints are not an issue for online teaching, those offerings will allow students to complete within four semesters of matriculation the ten courses required for the degree. Thirty graduate units are required of all degree candidates.

MS in Family Therapy Counseling

The online MS program in Family Therapy is committed to a vision of strengthening healthy families by preparing ethical and qualified professionals who embrace an inclusive perspective of interconnected systems. The curriculum is comprised of basic professional counseling content and theory and provides comprehensive framework for learning family therapy. It meets the academic and clinical requirements for accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education (COAMFTE). The courses lead students to view families as entities within larger social systems and promote collaborative, inclusive, and integrative systems approaches. The curriculum offers students in the family therapy track an optimal perspective for supporting individuals, families, and communities in urban environments, and provides them with a framework for developing skills to facilitate dialogue with marginalized individuals, families, and communities. Courses are completed online over a 3-year period; during the second summer, two on-campus courses are completed, lasting two weeks.

Call 617.287.6000 or email enrollment.info@umb.edu.

MS in Mental Health Counseling

The Department of Counseling and School Psychology is offering a master's degree in Mental Health Counseling primarily online. It is a 60-credit master's which meets the academic requirements for licensure in the state of Massachusetts as a Mental Health Counselor (there are additional post graduate clinical experience requirements for licensure). Students complete a series of general counseling courses and courses specific to mental health counseling. In addition, students complete field experiences in mental health settings through the practicum and internship. The field experiences may be completed in local agencies of program students and they will be supervised via conference calls and online chats.

Call 617.287.6000 or email enrollment.info@umb.edu.

MS in Rehabilitation Counseling

The Department of Counseling and School Psychology is offering a master's degree in Rehabilitation Counseling primarily online. It is a 60-credit master's which meets the academic requirements for national certification as a Certified Rehabilitation Counselor. The Program is nationally accredited through the Council On Rehabilitation Education. Students must attend a two week session in late June and early July where they take two clinically based courses. Also, students complete a series of general counseling courses and courses specific to rehabilitation counseling. In addition, students complete field experiences in rehabilitation counseling settings through practicum and internship. The field experiences may be completed in local agencies of program students and they will supervised via online chats. Scholarships are available for qualified students.

MS in Gerontology (Management of Aging Services Track)

The Management in Aging Services Track offers students an advanced degree in the growing field of long-term care. This is a new program that will afford professionals in the aging network the opportunity to broaden their perspectives and develop management skills. Students will develop skills in policy development and analysis, program management, administration, and finance with a focus on the aging population. The program requires 30 credit hours, or 10 courses (eight required courses and two electives). Courses will be offered either online or in interactive television (ITV) format. A graduate certificate may be earned by taking 15 hours of relevant course work.

Winner, UCEA Innovative and Creative Program Award (2007); UCEA Outstanding Credit Program Award (2008).

Online RN to BS Program

The online RN-BS program maximizes accessibility and convenience for highly motivated, independent professionals. There is, however, a requirement that students attend a residential orientation prior to the commencement of the online Nursing classes; additional residential time is required for four hours during the Health Assessment and Promotion course. Students from out of state should contact the program office to discuss arrangements for completing these requirements at a distance. The Nursing course portion of the program operates on a cohort model, whereby a group of students completes the same program of study over five semesters. The six-credit nursing courses are taught online in the Summer, Fall and Spring sessions. The twenty units of non-nursing general education and elective courses may be satisfied through University College with online courses (if available), in a traditional course at UMass Boston, or (with prior approval from the College of Nursing and Health Sciences) at another accredited college or university.

Online Degree Completion Program (BA, Community Studies)

The Online Degree Completion Program allows returning students a flexible and convenient way to finish their degrees. This 30-unit (ten-course) program offers returning students with 90 or more credits the opportunity to earn a Bachelor of Arts in Community Studies—totally online. The requirements for this program have been packaged in such a way that you will benefit from a well-rounded and integrated learning experience that also affords you maximum credit for previously completed coursework no matter what your previous major or area of study. You'll enjoy a program of study that provides a solid foundation in academic skills, as well as an interdisciplinary content focused on contemporary issues in public policy, social sciences and applied liberal arts. This special Community Studies plan is an academically challenging program which examines human communities, their histories and cultures, their identities and values, institutions and economies, as well as their problems and prospects. The content and method of this program are drawn from the social sciences as well as the liberal arts, public policy, ethnic studies and global studies.

Undergraduate Certificates

Frank J. Manning Certificate in Gerontology

This 18-credit, four course certificate program is designed for individuals currently working in or new to the field of Gerontology. This program provides students with an understanding of the aging network and aging process through direct service, research, field placements and advocacy. The Frank J. Manning Certificate in Gerontology is fully integrated with the core curriculum of the UMass Boston College of Public and Community Service's undergraduate program in Gerontology. Both programs are designed to help those interested in the field of Gerontology to augment their current knowledge and skills and to pursue a rewarding career built around issues of aging and public service.

The Frank J. Manning Certificate Program is designated:

- a Program of Merit by the Association for Gerontology in Higher Education
- a Deemed Status Provider of Nursing Home Administrators by the Massachusetts Board of Registration of Nursing Home Administrators

Certificate of Information Technology

The Certificate in Information Technology (CIT) is an introductory program into the information systems discipline. It covers concepts fundamental to the technology and operation of modern information systems, focusing on techniques, tools and methods used today in the development and use of computer-based applications. The program is intended for non-College of Management or non-degree seeking students. Course work involves 6 courses (18 credit hours) after completion of MSIS-IT 105 (Introduction to Computers and Information Systems). Students who complete the program will earn a certificate from the College of Management. Courses for this program will be offered in a mixture of online and on-campus formats.

Human Service Practice

This 18-credit certificate program is designed for human service practitioners, affording them an opportunity to participate in courses that are directly related to their work and to apply their learning directly to their practice. Students will apply a professional orientation to the context and core values of human service practice, examine different theoretical models of practice, apply them to their own practice, and establish their own best practices in human service intervention and case management. Students will also have the opportunity to build their academic skills, including critical reading, research, and academic and professional writing.

The program is delivered over a three-semester period. Each semester, students will enroll in one course that addresses two different competencies from the human service curriculum at the College of Public and Community Service (CPCS).

Visit uc.umb.edu/certificates.

Spanish/English Translation

This two-semester, 12-credit certificate program has been designed to meet the increasing local, national, and international demand for professionals, educators, and students interested in meeting the challenges of modern multicultural, multilingual societies. Participants will explore the history, principles, theory, and practice of oral and written translation. They will practice the techniques of legal, medical, technical, general, and literary translation and learn to use specialized dictionaries and other essential reference materials. They will also improve their knowledge of English and Spanish syntaxes, morphologies, and semantic systems.

The program begins in the fall semester and concludes in the spring semester. It comprises two six-credit courses: SPAN 408, Advanced Techniques and Skills for Translation, and SPAN 409, Advanced Practice of Translation.

Graduate Certificates

Applied Behavioral Analysis

This five-course graduate sequence, offered via ITV at specific sites as well as at the UMass Boston campus, is designed to enable students to serve as effective practitioners who can assess, design, implement and evaluate applied behavior analysis (ABA) programs by providing them with the knowledge, concepts and skills of basic ABA principles, ethical considerations, generalization strategies, and application to special populations and settings. Students will receive guided practice with each course's content by developing a Case Study that may be course-specific, or continue across several courses. Successful completion of all five courses will meet the coursework requirement to sit for the national Behavior Analyst Certification Board licensing examination.

Winner, UCEA Innovative and Creative Program Award (2004); UCEA Outstanding Credit Program Award (2005)

Creative Thinking at Work

This 15-credit graduate certificate in Critical and Creative Thinking trains people to tackle challenging real-life problems, generate new ideas, and take them through to realization in their various educational, professional, artistic, and social scttings. A variety of approaches are introduced to invention, dialogue, listening, and teamwork that promote creativity. Certificate students learn to confront ambiguous and complex problems, reflect deeply and bring insights to the surface, transform the giving of feedback into a mutual learning experience, build relationships of trust and enthusiastic acceptance of diverse perspectives, articulate a practical vision, and collaborate in bringing it to fruition.

CCT Certificate students take two core courses, three elective courses, and complete an exit performance as part of one of the courses taken. CCT Master's students, graduate students from other programs, advanced undergraduates, and special students are welcome to enroll in individual courses. Note: M.A. students must get permission from their advisor before registering for online courses and will not be permitted to count more than four online courses from UMass Boston towards their degree.

Gerontology (Focus on Management of Aging Services)

The Gerontology Graduate Certificate with a focus in management of aging services is targeted to individuals in the aging network who are looking to upgrade their skills or advance in new directions within the field or for those looking to enter the field. The emphasis will be on making this an easily accessible program through use of regional video teaching sites and online courses. Class scheduling will reflect the needs of a working student population. The certificate may be earned by taking 15 hours of approved course work, including three required courses and two elective courses. Students will have the option of applying these 15 hours toward the 30-hour Management of Aging Services Master's degree program (see page 42).

Instructional Technology Design

This 15-credit graduate certificate program is designed to meet the increasing challenges created by the high technology training needs of academic, corporate, and public educators. It is intended for instructional designers, training professionals and instructional technologists responsible for the design, development and management of technology-based learning programs. Educators will also find that the coursework in this program will enable them to better serve their audience. Coursework will include a balance of instruction and discussion, lab time and design teams producing multimedia projects.

Instructional Technology for Educators

This 15-credit certificate from the Graduate College of Education is designed for in-service teachers who do not seek a master's degree at this time or for those who have already earned an advanced degree. The purpose of the Certificate is to prepare teachers to meet the National Technology Standards of the International Society of Technology and the Performance Indicators for Teachers and the Massachusetts Recommended PreK-12 Instructional Technology Standards. In addition, the coursework is designed to meet the subject knowledge competencies of the Massachusetts Instructional Technology licensure. Graduates of the program will develop a comprehensive performance-based technology foundation that reflects fundamental concepts and skills for using technology to support teaching and learning.

Women's Leadership in a Global Perspective

This graduate certificate program keeps the role of gender in politics and policy making central to the program's design, goals, and curriculum. The six interconnected courses provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the development of women's leadership around the world. Candidates for this leadership development program include women from countries in a democratic transition process. Offered entirely online, this certificate allows students to examine women's leadership in politics and policymaking from a comparative perspective, drawing on their experiences within their respective countries.

Successful completion of all six courses is required to earn the 18-graduate-credit certificate. Students (including advanced undergraduates) may enroll in one or more courses with permission of the program director.

Women in Politics and Public Policy

The Program for Women in Politics and Public Policy is a two-semester graduate certificate program designed to prepare women from all walks of life for careers in politics, policy-making, public and non-profit management, research, planning and the law. The program offers a unique combination of graduate-level academic work in policy studies, analytical and research skills, and substantive internships tailored to students' policy interests and professional goals. Intensive advising and professional development workshops are an important component of the program. Students earn 18 graduate credits within the Department of Public Policy/Public Affairs at the McCormack Graduate School: nine in course work, six in the internship, and three through the case-study research project.

The program welcomes applicants from diverse backgrounds and a wide range of undergraduate majors. To be eligible for admission, the applicant must: 1) hold a bachelor's degree or its equivalent; 2) submit an official transcript; 3) arrange for a personal interview with program staff; 4) submit a completed application with fee; and 5) provide two written recommendations.

Addictions Counselor Education Program

uc.umb.edu/acdtsp/

The Addictions Counselor Education Program (ACEP) offers the highest quality education to persons seeking to begin or advance their careers in the treatment of alcohol and chemical dependence. The program consists of six core courses plus practicum. Depending on their previous educational experience, students may need to complete two additional courses in order to meet licensure requirements.

ACEP is offered in both online and classroom formats, with classes meeting either at the UMass Boston campus or at sites in Plymouth and Framingham. Students can begin the program in either the fall or spring semester. Program coordinators at each site will assist students with their practicum and career planning. Online students can design their path of study based on their individual needs; online courses are offered each semester, and students are welcome to join these online courses in any semester.

Criminal Justice and Substance Abuse — ACDTSP 018

This course presents the collaboration of substance abuse treatment with the criminal justice system. Individuals facing legal difficulties include those on probation, parole, and in prison settings. The alcohol and drug abuse counselor faces many unique challenges working with this population. Assessment and treatment issues are often complex and must integrate legal sanctions and conditions. Additional challenges occur as the counselor seeks to collaborate with criminal justice professionals, including judges, prosecuting attorneys, lawyers, probation officers, parole officers and police officers. A collaborative team approach creates an environment in which differences complement and support one another. These issues will be addressed in order to prepare the alcohol and drug counselor to work with criminal justice professionals and in correctional settings.

Co-Occurring Disorders — ACDTSP 044

This course will present current theories and treatment strategies for working with individuals with CODs. As mental health and substance abuse treatment settings seek to integrate their treatment approach, many challenges have occurred. The current expectation is that most clients present with both mental health and substance abuse issues and that the counselor has the ability and skills to provide integrated treatment. The development of a co-occurring competency and the application of evidence-based approaches are current expectations of state and federal payers, as well as private insurance. This course will provide an overview of this aspect of treatment and counseling and will guide the student to other resources to gain more information about the changing field of COD treatment.

How to Read Urban Open Space — PRFTRN 002

The experience of a city is the experience of its open spaces. The course deals not only with parks but plazas, boulevards, squares, etc. The goal of this course is to provide students with a framework for their own critical analysis of open space. What makes a good urban space? What would be its qualities of dimensions and form? What makes bad urban space bad? What makes a "space" a "place"? What do we mean by the term "space" anyway? Which spaces have historically become paradigms? At the end of the course students will apply what they have learned to their own respective urban environments.

Urban Landscape Design — PRFTRN 005

This course explores the growing impact of landscape architecture on the urban environment. The merger of urban design, landscape architecture and architecture, sometimes referred to as "landscape urbanism", moves beyond the strategic placement of planting material to implications for biodiversity, microclimatology, and ecology. It addresses citywide cultural and ecological concerns. It works across disciplines and emphasizes an understanding of the relationships between natural systems and the cities - between aquatic systems and watersheds, between plants and health. The result is the increasing significance of landscape as a framework for urban form that begins locally and continues at a broader scale. The principles behind and examples of existing urban installations that exemplify this merger of disciplines will be discussed.

English as a Second Language (ESL)

uc.umb.edu/esl/

The programs in English as a Second Language offered by University College are designed for individuals seeking to communicate more effectively in English and improve their performance in professional, academic, and social environments. Day and evening classes are offered for non-native speakers at all levels of language proficiency.

The content and methods used in all courses are chosen to maximize students' language development. Therefore, strong emphasis is placed on language learning skills and strategies, and students' personal and professional interests, needs, and backgrounds are carefully considered. Instruction in each class includes a grammar review at the appropriate level, integrated with practice in listening comprehension, oral expression, reading, writing, vocabulary building, and pronunciation.

ESL Students - You must register in person with Susan Griffin, 617.287.7278. Office: Wheatley Hall, W-1-003.

Assessment and Course Placement

To ensure that students are placed in appropriate courses and levels, they must attend an assessment session. The session consists of several types of tests: grammar, listening and reading comprehension, and a writing sample. There is also an interview with a program instructor.

For evening programs, the assessment session is completed at the first scheduled class meeting. For full-time programs, the assessment process is more comprehensive. Tests are completed over the first few days of the semester, and take place in conjunction with a variety of classroom and orientation activities. Formal classes begin only after the orientation period.

Intensive English Programs

Classes in our Intensive English Programs take place Monday through Friday, mornings and some afternoons, for a total of 21 hours per week. Some sections will meet on two afternoons per week, others on three or four afternoons per week. A full-time program generally consists of registration into 7 sections, which comprise 4 courses.

UMass Boston will supply an I-20 form enabling students to apply for an F-1 visa for Intensive English programs.

Intensive ESL ESL-NC 001

Intensive ESL will not be offered in Spring 2011

The Intensive ESL program is for participants not explicitly interested in matriculation. Coursework will include intensive practice of the basic language skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing. There will also be formal grammar study at the appropriate level and pace, and exercises in vocabulary building. For participants with more advanced English skills, coursework will include oral presentation and writing projects, in addition to assigned readings and exercises. Reading and writing coursework focuses on topics of interest to participants. Computer lab time is scheduled, and students are offered basic instruction in creating presentations, web pages, and doing web-based research. Students may also choose TOEFL Test Preparation courses.

University Preparation ESL-NC 002

Participants experience an integrated program focused on instruction in university study skills, academic writing, and content-based course work typical of an American university classroom. Qualified students may receive permission to audit regular ongoing university courses. Computer lab time is scheduled, and students are offered instruction in creating presentations, web pages, as well as doing web-based research. Candidates seeking admission to UMass Boston undergraduate programs may submit their work in University Preparation in lieu of a TOEFL exam score. Students who choose this option must receive a favorable evaluation by their instructors, and must submit a portfolio of essays written during their program of study.

Evening ESL Classes

Evening ESL will not be offered in Spring 2011

Evening ESL ESL-NC 004

The Evening ESL program at UMass Boston offers English as a Second Language classes at three levels: ESL I (high beginner to low intermediate), ESL II (low to high intermediate), and ESL III (high intermediate to advanced). The content and methods used in all courses are chosen to maximize students' language development. Therefore, strong emphasis is placed on language learning skills and strategies, and students' personal and professional interests, needs, and backgrounds are carefully considered. Instruction in each class includes a grammar review at the appropriate level, integrated with practice in listening comprehension, oral expression, reading, writing, vocabulary building, and pronunciation.

Professional Communication for Non-Native Speakers

Professional Communication for Non-Native Speakers will not be offered in Spring 2011

This course is designed for high-intermediate to advanced non-native speakers of English who seek a growing mastery of both English proficiency and communication skills necessary for success in the professional workplace environment. Class work will focus on oral presentation and short written reports.

Graduate Test Preparation

uc.umb.edu/testprep/

Developed in conjunction with the Office of Career Services, these review courses offer preparation for the GMAT, GRE, LSAT, and MTEL. Intensive classroom sessions cover all sections of each exam. Each course involves extensive exam practice, including a full-length practice test given under exam conditions. Throughout the year, all courses meet at our main campus in Boston. The LSAT Test Prep is also offered at our Copley location.

Boston Area Advanced Technological Education Connections (BATEC)

Boston Area Advanced Technological Education Connections (BATEC) is a National Science Foundation-funded Center of Excellence working to develop and promote a coordinated, self-sustaining regional education and workforce development system for IT —one that will attract a diverse student population to IT and IT-enabled careers, promote lifelong learning of technical skills, and support the technology workforce needs of the region. BATEC is a partnership of UMass Boston, six community colleges, and thirty high school districts, although our events are open to educators from across all regions. Our partners are transforming education to develop the new IT professional for the 21st century by developing curriculum, providing professional development experiences for educators, attracting and advancing a diverse population of technology students, and connecting education, industry and community to promote mutually beneficial partnerships that support career development, lifelong learning and regional economic growth.

Confucius Institute for Chinese Language and Culture

The University of Massachusetts Confucius Institute at UMass Boston was established in collaboration with Renmin University of China and The High School Affiliated to Renmin University of China, with the sponsorship and authorization of Hanban, the Office of Chinese Language Council International, under the Ministry of Education, China.

The mission of the Confucius Institute is to promote understanding of Chinese language and culture in the communities served by the University. Through courses, conferences, travel, and cultural events, the Institute will provide opportunities for cultural exchange and collaboration between the US and China.

Chinese Language Instruction

Credit courses which intertwine language instruction with cultural awareness, serving students at all skill levels from basic Mandarin for business and travel to more advanced study.

Seminars in Chinese Culture

Cultural seminars that illuminate topics such as the Chinese political system, economic development, values and etiquette, philosophy, and Confucianism in management.

Programs for Teachers of Chinese

Teacher training programs, American cultural awareness training, and professional workshops for teachers of Chinese.

Conferences and Forums

Conferences and forums organized by the Institute will offer platforms for communication between educators and business people from both countries.

Travel

Tours that will bring students, educators and business people from the US to China and from China to the US, providing opportunities to strengthen language skills through immersion and deepen cultural awareness through direct experience.

Marine Studies Consortium

UMass Boston is a member of the Marine Studies Consortium, an association of Massachusetts higher education and research institutions whose mission is to increase understanding of coastal and marine ecosystems and to promote policies that protect aquatic resources.

The Consortium's undergraduate academic program offers unique learning opportunities in marine and aquatic sciences, environmental policy, and environmental management. Courses are held during the evenings on the campuses of member institutions. Undergraduate academic credit is also available to students from the general public through arrangements with Consortium member schools. The Consortium also provides planning tools that can help solve small-community wastewater management problems.

Academic Information

Eligibility for Enrollment

Undergraduate courses

UMass Boston undergraduate credit courses are open to: 1) students who may be considering matriculation into a degree program at UMass Boston or elsewhere; 2) students matriculated at other institutions who will use UMass Boston credits to meet degree requirements at their home institutions; and 3) matriculated UMass Boston students. Anyone who has graduated from high school or who has earned a high school equivalency certificate is invited to begin or continue taking courses at UMass Boston. Please see the regulations below governing academic retention standards for matriculated and non-matriculated students.

Before registering for undergraduate courses, you should know that the University assumes that students registering for these courses will accurately assess their ability to do college-level work.

Specific CLA/CSM Requirements

Many courses described in this publication fulfill CLA and CSM distribution requirements. These courses are identified in the Course Matrix and the course descriptions. Although they are open to non-matriculated students, all of these courses meet specific requirements for matriculated CLA and CSM students. To be sure of taking distribution courses that will meet their degree requirements, all CLA and CSM matriculated students should, before registering, pick up advising materials concerning distribution requirements from the University Advising Center (Campus Center, 1st floor, room 1280; 617.287.5500).

Please note that distribution requirements for students who have matriculated in or after fall 2002 are different than for those who matriculated earlier. If you matriculated before fall 2002, please consult your academic adviser to be sure you are meeting your requirements.

Courses whose numbers are followed by "G" are First-Year or Intermediate Seminars that count towards the critical analysis requirement of the CLA/CSM General Education curriculum.

Materials concerning the CLA/CSM writing proficiency requirement are available from the Core Curriculum Office, CC-2-2100; 617.287.6330.

Graduate Courses

Students who have not formally been admitted into UMass Boston graduate programs may enroll in graduate courses offered through University College, providing they hold a bachelor's degree and meet course prerequisites. Up to six credits earned in courses taken before admission to a graduate degree or certificate program may be counted toward the requirements for that program, with the permission of the program director; however, completion of these courses does not imply admission to the program. Some courses require permission from the appropriate graduate program director(s); this is indicated in the individual course listings. If you need permission to enroll, you can learn what procedure to follow by calling the appropriate program office at one of the numbers listed below.

Prerequisites and Permission

It is the responsibility of students to meet course prerequisites. If you are uncertain about whether you have met a prerequisite, you should contact the appropriate academic department or program.

Certain courses, as their descriptions indicate, cannot be taken without special permission. If you need such permission, you can learn what procedure to follow by calling the Registration Information line at 617.287.6200. Be sure that the appropriate initials appear in the "Faculty Initials" column on your registration form.

Academic Standing

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/academic/standing/

Undergraduate students enrolled in University College courses must maintain a required 2.00 cumulative average to be considered in Academic Good Standing. With any subsequent semesters in which the cumulative average falls below 2.00 GPA, University College follows University policy by issuing alerts and actions as outlined on our website.

Advising

University College Office, W-2-203 ; 617.287.7900

Academic advising is available during the day by appointment.

Auditing

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/academic/auditing/

Registrar's Office, CC-4-4100; 617.287.6200

The auditing of certain courses is allowed for graduate students only and requires permission of the instructor; permission is granted on a space-available basis. Instructor approval may be obtained only during the first class session. A completed audit application must accompany a student's registration form; in such cases, the late registration fee will be waived. Students may not change their registration from credit to audit or from audit to credit. The auditing fee is the same as the course fee.

Diagnostic Testing

uac.umb.edu/testing.html

Testing Center, University Advising Center; CC-UL-133; 617.287.5522

Free diagnostic tests for English (for non-native speakers) and mathematics courses are held on a walk-in basis, during posted dates and times.

Pass/Fail Option

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/academic/passfail/

Many courses may be taken on a pass/fail basis. The pass/fail option is limited to one course per semester and one course per summer. UMass Boston students may use the pass/fail option for a maximum of eight courses during their undergraduate careers. Graduate students may not take courses on a pass/fail basis. A course exceeding five units cannot be taken pass/fail.

It is the student's responsibility to decide whether a Pass/Fail option is appropriate for a particular course. Please consult the URL listed above for further details about electing for a Pass/Fall grade and the steps required to request this option.

Before exercising the pass/fail option, students from other institutions should consult an advisor or check their institutional or departmental requirements concerning transfer credit.

Transfer Credit

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/academic/transfer/

Students from institutions other than UMass Boston (including other institutions in the University of Massachusetts system) who wish to transfer credits earned in University College credit courses should contact their college or university concerning specific transfer requirements.

Please refer to the URL above for additional details.

Transcripts

Requests for official transcripts must be submitted in writing to the Office of the Registrar, University of Massachusetts, 100 Morrissey Blvd, Boston, MA 02125. Students may present their written requests in person at the One Stop, Upper Level Campus Center, by fax at 617.287.6242, by mail, or by using the WISER system, wiser.umb.edu.

Withdrawing from Courses

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/academic/withdrawing/

Any student withdrawing from a course after the drop deadline will receive a grade of "W" for that course. Withdrawal forms are available at the One Stop; students may also withdraw from a course using the WISER student self-service system (wiser.umb.edu). A student withdrawing from a course does not receive a refund. Failure to submit a withdrawal form before 6:00pm on the day of the withdrawal period deadline (see Academic Calendar) will result in a grade of "F". Non-attendance does not constitute withdrawal.

Fees & Payments

Course and Service Fees

Course fees

Course fees are included with course descriptions. These fees are typically calculated on a per-credit basis, as follows:

Undergraduate	$320 per credit
Graduate	$445 per credit

In some cases a course fee may be calculated differently because of special costs or a subsidy.

Lab Fees

Lab fees must be paid for certain courses, as indicated in the course matrix to the right of the course fee.

Service Fees

The following fees are paid only by students to whom the specified conditions apply:

Records Fee (for non-matriculated students)	$10
Returned Check or e-Check Fee (when applicable)	$25

Degree and Certificate Program Fees

The following one-time mandatory fees are paid only by students who are applying to, or are currently enrolled in, a UMass Boston degree or certificate program.

Application Fee (non-refundable)	$60 (US resident); $100 (international)
Combined New Student Fee - Undergraduate	$550
Combined New Student Fee - Graduate	$395
Commencement Fee (one-time fee for seniors)	$150

Payments

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/registration/payment/

Students may use the following methods to make payment:

Check

Please make checks payable to "UMass Boston."

Payment of course and service fees with a check or e-check that is subsequently returned by our bank will result in an additional returned check/e-check fee of $25, and may also result in administrative withdrawal and referral to a collection agency, which may result in liability for the payment of a collection fee.

E-check

Tuition and fees can be paid online by E-Check, or Automated Clearing House (ACH), from your checking or savings account. This type of payment results in an electronic debit of your bank account. ACH payments are not subject to a convenience fee. Bank information like routing number, account number, student ID number, and email address are required to complete an ACH payment.

Credit Card

UMass Boston no longer accepts direct credit card payments for course and service fees. If you wish to pay with a credit card, you may do so through SallieMae®. MasterCard, Discover, or American Express cards can be used (Visa cards are not accepted). A service fee (2.50% at the time of this publication) will be charged by SallieMae® on each credit card transaction. Instructions and links for this payment method can be found at wiser.umb.edu.

Cash

After you have enrolled, cash payments can be made at the Bursar's Office, Campus Center, 4th floor, M-Th, 8:00am-5:00pm, F 8:00am-4:00pm).

Payment by Outside Agencies

If the student's charges are to be paid by an outside agency, a payment authorization from that agency is required. Students are reminded that they are liable for course and service fees in the event that the sponsoring agency does not pay them.

Refund Policy

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/registration/refund/

Credit courses

A student who drops a credit course will be granted a refund according to the dates listed in the Academic Calendar. Non-attendance does not constitute dropping a course. Students dropping a course may either file a Change of Registration/Refund Request Form at the One Stop or drop the course online at wiser.umb.edu.

Note: International and field study programs have a different refund policy. For details, call 617.287.7913.

Non-credit programs

Refunds will be granted to registered students who withdraw from non-credit programs on the following basis:

Withdrawn on or before second class meeting date: 100% refund

Withdrawn on or before third class meeting date: 50% refund

No refunds will be granted after the third class meeting date.

In the case of programs that have 5 or fewer class meetings, a 100% refund will be granted for withdrawal before the first class meeting. There will be no refunds after the first class meeting.

Refund Procedure

The amount of a refund is computed on the basis of the date the refund request is received by the One Stop (if the request is mailed, the refund is computed from the postmark date).

If a student has made a payment by credit card through SallieMae®, the refund will be returned as a credit to the cardholder's account. Lab fees are not refundable after the first lab meeting.

University College no longer mails refund checks to students. The Bursar's office sends an email to the student's UMB account, informing them that their check is available for pickup. Students have the option of requesting that their check be mailed; this request must be made in writing to the Bursar.

Note: If your University account has a balance, your refund will be applied to this balance until it is paid in full.

Course Fee Waiver Policy

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/registration/waiver/

University College will accept course fee waivers for those persons meeting the eligibility requirements described below, providing the courses they wish to take are adequately supported by fees from paying students, and providing space is available.

Course fee waiver policies apply only at the standard rate of $320 per undergraduate credit and $445 per graduate credit. Thus, in the case of a course with extraordinary costs necessitating a higher than standard course fee, course fee waivers will be granted for only the amount of the standard course fee.

Registration fees, service fees, lab fees, and other mandatory fees must be paid in full.

Original course fee waivers must be submitted directly to Bursar's Office.

Qualified veterans are eligible for course fee waivers under the following conditions:

1 They must be matriculated in a UMass Boston degree program.

2 The course for which the waiver is being used must be a credit-bearing course.

3 To determine eligibility, veterans must present DD 214 (military discharge) to the UMass Boston Veterans Affairs Office located on the 4th floor of the Campus Center (tel. 617.287.5875).

Please Note: The new University of Massachusetts Welcome Home Waiver Program offered to Massachusetts veterans of the Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts does not apply to University College courses.

Full-time state employees and their spouses are eligible for a 50% course fee waiver upon submission of a properly completed "Certificate of Eligibility" at the time of registration.

Full-time employees of public higher education, their spouses, and their dependent children are eligible for a 50% course fee waiver upon submission of a properly completed "Certificate of Eligibility" at the time of registration. This benefit also applies to full-time employees of Essex Agricultural and Technical High School.

This benefit is provided only to individual state employees and other eligible persons as noted above. In the case of a state department or agency co-sponsoring education for its employees, the department is directly responsible to UMass Boston for the full cost of the program.

University College cannot honor vouchers issued to cooperating practitioners by the state-funded programs of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, Boston, Dartmouth, Lowell, or Worcester.

Waivers may not be used for MUSIC 185 Private Music Lessons and other special courses.

Please Note: Due to changes in University policy, University College no longer grants waivers to senior citizens.

Registration

When to Register

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/academic/calendar/

Please refer to the Academic Calendar in this bulletin or on our website for important dates and deadlines.

How to Register

Returning students

wiser.umb.edu

If you are a matriculated UMass Boston student or have taken UMass Boston courses before, please use the WISER online self-service registration system.

New Students

If you are taking a UMass Boston course for the first time, you can use any of the following methods to register:

Online

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/registration/cart/

Students registering for the first time can submit their registration online using the College's Shopping Cart System. Simply click the "Add Course" button found to the right of each individual course listing.

When your registration is processed, you will be given a user ID and password which you can then use to access WISER for future transactions.

Mail & Fax

Registration forms are found at the back of the bulletin and are available for download on the University College website. Mail registrations to: UMass Boston, University College Registration, Registrar's Office, Campus Center, 100 Morrissey Blvd., Boston, MA 02125-3393 USA. Registrations must be postmarked by the registration deadline for the applicable session. For more information on deadlines, see the Academic Calendar.

You may fax your registration to 617.287.7902. Download the registration form, complete and fax to the number above.

Walk-in

You may register in person at the One Stop Student Service Center, Upper Level, Campus Center. The One Stop is open Monday - Thursday, 8:30am-6:00pm and Friday, 10:00am-4:00pm.

By Permission of Instructor and/or Department

Some courses require special permission to register. These courses are appropriately marked within our website and printed bulletin. Please note that generally following the start of a course, permission of instructor is required in order to register until the add/change deadline of that session. No registrations will be accepted after the add/change deadline.

Note: All registrations are accepted on the basis of available space.

Adding and Dropping Courses

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/registration/add_drop/

Students may add or drop courses online via WISER or in person within the registration deadlines (see Academic Calendar).

To add or drop a course in person, by mail or by fax, use a Change of Registration Form (available by download or from the One Stop). Students may add courses until the Add/Change deadline. If a student wishes to register for or add a course after the first class meeting, the appropriate form (Registration Form/Change of Registration Form) must be signed by the instructor(s) of the course(s) added, and returned to the One Stop before the Add/Change deadline (no signature is required when a course is being dropped). To add an online course after the first day of classes, please visit our website for instructor contact information.

Students who drop courses on or before the Drop deadline will be removed from class rosters, and the course will not appear on their transcripts. Between the Drop deadline and the Add/Change deadline, students who drop a course and add another course at the same time will also be removed from the class roster of the dropped course; however, if a student drops a course without adding another course, this will be treated as a withdrawal and a "W" will appear on the student's transcript for that course.

Cancellations

uc.umb.edu/moreinfo/registration/cancellation/

The College reserves the right to cancel underenrolled courses. A student who has registered for a course that is canceled is eligible for a refund (for refund policy, see Academic Calendar, inside front cover). If all courses for which the student has registered are canceled, service fees will also be refunded.
